BARRINGTON WINS APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT OF NATION

Missouri Supreme Court Grants Writ of Error Transfering Case of Convicted Slayer of J. P. McCann to Federal Tribunal in Washington for Rehearing.

ALLEGES THAT HE IS A SUBJECT OF EDWARD

Declares That His Examination by Police and a Melodramatic Play Prejudiced Public Against Him—Execution Set for July 26—Is Stayed Indefinitely.

"Lord" F. Seymour Barrington, under sentence of death for the murder of his benefactor, James P. McCann, June 19, 1903, won a substantial victory Saturday, when the Supreme Court in Jefferson City transferred his case to the United States Supreme Court for a rehearing.

Barrington was under sentence to be hanged at Clayton July 26, but the transfer to the Federal Court acts as a stay of execution. The United States Supreme Court does not meet until October. The writ of error ordering the transfer was handed down by Chief Justice Brace of the Missouri court.

In his application for the writ of error Barrington alleged many errors in the trial in the Circuit Court of St. Louis County and alleged himself to be a subject of the King of England. The case will go to the October term of the Federal Court.

Barrington was convicted of murdering McCann, a horseman, who had befriended him in his hour of direst need. He was accused of luring his victim to a grove at Bonfil's quarry, 20 miles from St. Louis, where he shot McCann to death and threw the body over an 80-foot embankment into a quarry pond. The crime was committed about midnight, June 19, 1903. The horseman's pockets had been rifled.

Told of Other's Quarrel.

Barrington, according to the evidence, took McCann's watch, cane, money and hat, and with his clothing besmeared with blood walked back to St. Louis and went to the McCann residence, where he had been given a home. He told Mrs. McCann that her husband had quarreled with two men at the Suburban Garden and had driven away with them in a closed cab. Barrington was arrested but soon released, there being nothing upon which to hold him.

A week later McCann's body was found. Barrington attempted to flee, but was captured as he was about to depart for Chicago. He tried to throw away McCann's watch, but was prevented. A strong case of circumstantial evidence was found about him and he was indicted in St. Louis County.

On March 5, 1904, he was convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to death. He appealed to the Supreme Court, which on Feb. 2, 1906, affirmed the verdict of the trial court and Barrington's execution was fixed for March 15. The case was transferred to the court en banc for review and the former decision was affirmed and Barrington sentenced to be hanged at Clayton, July 26. Then the fight for a Federal hearing began.

Barrington's Defense.

The Supreme Court handed down no opinion. Barrington contended that there were many errors in the trial, among them being that he was placed in the "sweatbox" in Chief Desmond's office and that statements be made there were afterwards used against him; that he was denied a change of venue from St. Louis County, although the minds of the people there had been prejudiced against him; that he was refused an injunction against a theatrical troupe playing "Desperate Lord Barrington," which poisoned the minds of the people against him; that the State was permitted to use witnesses against him when their names were not previously known to him that he might combat their testimony.

Barrington told in his cell at Clayton of the Court's action and made no effort to conceal his joy over the turn in his case.

"I have been expecting just this thing," he said. "This is only justice and I was sure I would get that. All

SAGER GETS MORE PROOF OF AN ICE TRUST

Most Convincing Evidence, He Says, Will Be Presented Saturday.

AN IMPORTANT WITNESS

Man Formerly Enjoyed Confidence of Two Large Companies.

NATURAL DEALER HEARD

Knows of No Combine, but He Says Prices Are Fixed by One Firm.

New evidence, which Circuit Attorney Sager says is the most convincing yet discovered, and which he considers tends to establish the theory that an Ice Trust exists in St. Louis, will be presented to the grand jurors Saturday afternoon.

The witness who furnished this testimony enjoyed the confidence at different times of two of the large ice companies, and, while he was reluctant to give the information, Mr. Sager admitted that what he obtained was satisfactory.

Subpenas were issued for eight independent ice dealers to give testimony before the grand jury Friday afternoon. Service was obtained on only two, Henry Becker of 3727 North Twenty-first street and John Feldmeier of 3519 Blair avenue.

Price Is Fixed by One.

Mr. Becker is an extensive dealer in natural ice, and he has a large quantity of ice harvested in Wisconsin, stored in his icehouses in North St. Louis. He told a Post-Dispatch reporter that while he knew of no actual combination between any of the large ice companies, that one concern practically fixed the price, inasmuch as it controlled the most of the output of the St. Louis factories.

An interesting bit of information imparted to the grand jury Friday by Mr. Becker related to the price of ice in St. Louis. He said that while the minimum wholesale price here was $3 a ton, the Polar Wave company had a contract with the St. Louis Refrigerating and Cold Storage Co. at Lewis and O'Fallon streets at $1.75 a ton, and received the entire output of that plant, amounting to about 100 tons a day. Last year the same company bought this ice at $1.60 a ton.

The grand jury will hear further testimony at 2 p. m. Saturday. At least a dozen witnesses have been summoned.

THAT WIND LAST NIGHT BLEW OFF ALMOST ALL MY FEATHERS

The sudden drop in temperature Friday night, for which a sudden thunderstorm can be commended, paved the way for a delightfully cool summer's day Saturday, when most working people have an afternoon to do with what they will. The heat wave was punctured and scattered to the four winds and a gentle downpour cooled the parched earth and moistened the dusty streets.

Saturday's official forecast:

"Slightly cooler and probably thunderstorms tonight and Sunday; nearly stationary temperature; variable winds."

HEAT KILLS FIVE MORE IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Relief came to sunbaked Chicago yesterday afternoon, when a violent thunderstorm sent the mercury scurrying down the tube from 93 to 65 degrees—a drop of 28 degrees in one hour.

Wind, with a velocity for a short time of 56 miles an hour, accompanied the rain and drove it in sheets.

Five more persons died as a result of the heat wave and many were prostrated.

Portrait Man Is Sought.

The police are looking for a man who, posing as a solicitor for newspaper subscribers, called at the home of Mrs. Jennie Clark, 431 Antelope street, Friday, and when told by her that she was already subscribing for one of the papers, offered to sell her a life size portrait of herself with a beautiful frame thrown in for $3.95. Mrs. Clark paid the stranger $1.95 in advance. The police say the man k[illegible] aud.

LESSER HEADS COUNCIL INQUIRY ON BUSCH BILL

Committee of Three Who Voted Against Measure Will Convene Tuesday.

HEARINGS TO BE PUBLIC

Will Ask Why City's Interests Were Not Protected by Amendments.

FORMAN ON COMMITTEE

Cramer's Amendment Required Presiding Officer to Be Investigator.

President Forman of the City Council, one of three members of the Council committee which is to examine into all the circumstances connected with the passage by the Council of the Manufacturers' Railway (Busch line) bill, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Saturday that the first meeting of the committee would probably be held next Tuesday.

The committee will subpena witnesses, examine books and records and administer oaths at meetings which will be open to the public. The committee will have power to inquire why a perpetual franchise was granted, why the yearly compensation to the city was left at $5000, why safeguards against grade crossings were not introduced, and why the bill was passed practically unamended.

Julius Lesser and Mark Ewing, the two other members of the committee, are out of the city. Both are expected back Monday. Mr. Lesser will be chairman of the committee, as President Forman did not appoint himself to the committee willingly. He was forced to do so by Mr. Cramer's amendment to his resolution calling for the committee's appointment. The three members of the committee are the only members of the Council who voted against the Busch bill.

The resolution appointing the committee was adopted at Friday afternoon's meeting. There was an undercurrent of excitement in the remarks made by the different members on the details of the resolution. But there was no open opposition to the resolution.

Had not the resolution been introduced by Mr. Lesser for President Forman, Mr. Cramer, leader of the faction to which President Forman recently referred as a "combine," says he would have introduced one practically identical.

In introducing his resolution, Mr. Lesser said that he did so at the request of President Forman. Immediately on the reading of the resolution Mr. Linde, a Busch bill supporter, moved its adoption.

The resolution, as introduced by Lesser, called for the appointment of three members of the Council. Mr. Cramer moved an amendment providing for the

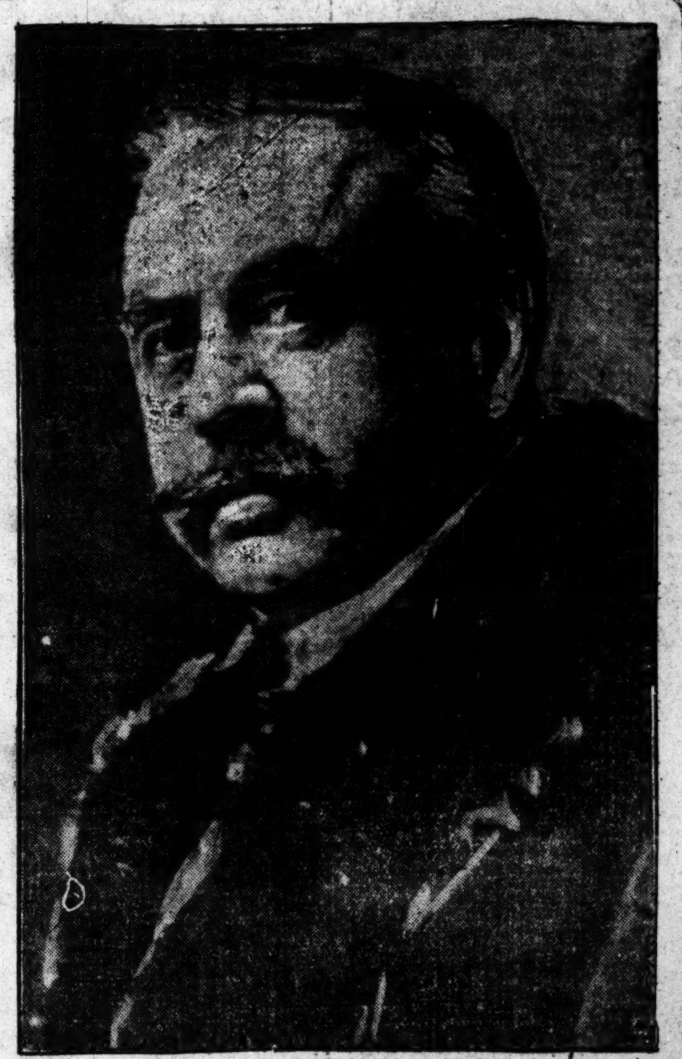
WHITE PAID BODYGUARD $6000 TO PROTECT HIM FROM THAW

ARCHITECT HOUNDED BY THAW DETECTIVES, BEFORE HE WAS SLAIN



MR. STANFORD WHITE.

DETECTIVE'S DIARY TELLS HOW DOOMED MAN WAS SHADOWED

First Complete Revelation of Conditions Preceding Tragedy in Madison Square Roof Garden Furnished by Employe of Architect Whose Footsteps Were Dogged

"THAW WILL STOP AT NOTHING," SAID WHITE

"My Life Is Always in Danger," He Admitted, in Desperation. "I Cannot Understand It. I Have Never Knowingly Wronged Man or Woman."

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 30.—An astounding revelation of the conditions which preceded the tragedy in the Madison Square Roof Garden last Monday night, when Millionaire Harry Kendall Thaw shot and killed Architect Stanford White, was furnished to the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch today from the diary of the murdered architect's former detective and bodyguard.

P. L. Bergoff is the detective, and the little volume in which he recorded his transactions with Stanford White is a remarkable exposure of life in New York as the high-flying Bohemian set lives it. It carries a moral of its own.

The diary shows that White undoubtedly feared for his life; that he took minute precautions to guard against a surprise, and that equally ingenious plans were made to keep track of every movement of the luckless man-about-town. It shows that between Feb. 14, 1905, and June 25, 1906, White paid his bodyguard $6000, to be disbursed among the detectives who were trying to save him.

This is Bergoff's story:

BY P. L. BERGOFF,
Stanford White's Body Guard.

There is a side to the story of the assassination of Stanford White which has not been told, and I am going to tell it. The big architect was square with me, and I am not afraid to speak out the truth, although the attorneys and others have been strangely silent.

Between Feb. 14, 1905, and June 25, 1906, Mr. White paid me over $6000, which sum was disbursed during that period in the protection of his person and the shadowing of a band of private detectives hired by Henry K. Thaw, the Pittsburg millionaire.

I further charge that Mr. White was hounded by Thaw's sleuths up to 8 o'clock on the night of his death, and that it was an easy matter for young Mr. Thaw to know where Mr. White was last Monday night, for his paid sleuths were even then still on the job and in an automobile four of them followed the architect when he left his office at 160 Fifth avenue at the precise hour I have named.

I also charge that not only did Thaw's paid sleuths follow Mr. White, but they were put upon the trail of Miss Pauline Desmond and Miss Gertie Grant, two actresses unfortunate in being acquaintances of the architect. However, I will tell my story just as the events developed and let the public judge as to the underlying motives of the principals.

My business is that of a private detective. I am no better nor no worse than others in my profession. If I was without gratitude and a sense of justice I would not tell my story to the World and Post-Dispatch.

Here is the account as near as I can give it by references to my diary.

First Scene in Tragedy.

In February of last year I was engaged for several weeks on a private matter in the vicinity of the Madison Square Garden. It was a divorce case. The lady involved, who was the wife of a person prominent in the theatrical world, happened to live near the Manhattan Club.

Feb. 10, 1905, I noted several men loitering around the vicinity of Manhattan Club and the foot of Madison Square Garden tower.

In one of these men I recognized a private detective who had previously been in the employ of the Sawyer Detective Bureau. His name was Louis Harris.

Feb. 11—Seeing these men there night after night, and being an employer of men engaged in their line of business, I was naturally curious to know the object of their presence in the neighborhood. I became informed of their mission when a man six feet and three inches tall rode up to the Twenty-sixth street entrance of Manhattan Club in an automobile, followed by two men on bicycles and a third riding alone in a cab, the latter being the man Harris, whom I had previously seen in the neighborhood at the foot of the tower.

Feb. 13—From the starter at the Manhattan Club I learned that the tall man who entered the building several nights before and was being shadowed was Stanford White, the millionaire, and that he had an art studio in the tower across the street.

Told of His Shadow.

Feb. 14—I called upon Mr. White at his office, 160 Fifth avenue. He received me at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and I briefly stated the incidents which I had observed. When he learned that he was being shadowed he laughed nervously and bit his lips until they bled.

"You must be mistaken; there is no one following me now," he said. I assured him that there was no mistake about the matter and then related in detail the incidents of the preceding night.

"Oh, pshaw," he exclaimed, an expression he used repeatedly in his conversation and his strongest 'cuss' word. 'I am sure that you must be mistaken.'"

Mr. White went on to explain that some weeks before he had noticed that several men had been following him, but he thought that they had ceased their surveillance of his movements. To convince Mr. White that I was right it was arranged that I should leave the office and take up cover in the neighborhood, and that afterward he was to come out and walk slowly to places designated by myself—down Fifth avenue to Twentieth street, through to Broadway, where he was to enter the Continental Hotel; then up Broadway to the Flatiron building and across the avenue entering the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

March 8—I was still called every day at Mr. White's office and with him almost every night. He would send me tickets in advance to attend theaters which he expected to attend, and when I called at his office there was always a good cigar for me, supplemented by the eager question, "Well, what have you learned?"

Mr. White grew anxious to know who was having the work done. He seemed like a man cowering from fear of an unknown foe.

"Wronged No Man or Woman."

"I cannot understand it," he said to me, "I have never knowingly in all my life wronged either man or woman."

March 15—Mr. White advised me to go to Howe & Hummel and get a settlement up to date, which I did, Kaffenburg giving me a check for about $500. He then made a new agreement with me, by which I was to go to any expense in getting the proof of the identity of the man who was behind the Greater New York Detective

INNOCENT ACCUSED TO SHIELD GUILTY

Detectives Declare Negress' Charge Against Anna Johnson Untrue.

The St. Louis grand jury Saturday began an investigation into the death, supposed to have been by poison of Amelia Gilchrist, the negress who was an important witness for the State of Illinois in the case of Andrew Watson and Dick Kent, negroes, charged with the murder of John Miller at Pittsburg Lake, near East St. Louis. The detectives who have worked on the case believe that Anna Johnson, the negress who was held by the Coroner's jury for the death of Amelia Gilchrist, is innocent.

The witnesses summoned to testify before the grand jury are: Dick Kent, "Crapple Dan" Davenport, Morris Sagel, Debritt Strain, Jim Edwards, Joe Torpley, Will Adams, A. Russell, Gabriel Brown, Goldie Jackson, Daisy Howard, May Hamilton, Mamie King and Anna Johnson.

Anna Johnson was held by the Coroner's jury on the sole testimony of Daisy Howard, who stated that while she and Anna Johnson were being taken to the holdover, a few days after the death of Amelia Gilchrist, Anna Johnson told her that she had given Amelia the poison.

Members of Chief Desmond's staff declare that Daisy Howard "framed up" the story to shield the real murderers of Amelia Gilchrist.

FOUR CRAZED BY HEAT IN GOTHAM

Crowds Besiege Bath Houses as Mercury Rises—Four Prostrations Are Fatal.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Four deaths in Manhattan Island from the heat were reported before noon today. All the victims were infants.

The early morning promise of the hottest day of the year thus far was well on the way to fulfillment before midday. The mercury was mounting steadily and there was intense suffering, particularly in the more crowded section of the city.

The mercury in the Government thermometer at the Weather Bureau was creeping upward at the rate of three degrees an hour and the officials there predicted that the 90-degree mark would be passed during the afternoon.

Reports of prostrations due to the extreme weather conditions began to reach the police early and hospital ambulances were kept busy responding to appeals for aid. Among the sufferers were four persons, whose minds had given way as a result of the intense heat. One of those attempted to end his life by shooting, but he was restrained and taken to a hospital.

Seeking temporary relief from the oppressive heat, thousands of persons stormed the public bath houses.

Thief Takes Trunks.

A thief stole two trunks containing clothing, jewelry and money to the extent of $200 from the room of Joseph Oleveri, 1228 North Eighth street, Friday afternoon.

DRANK FATAL DRAUGHT FROM STEIN AT HOME

Man Bent on Ending His Life Threatened to Throw Acid in Wife's Face.

HIS FOURTH ATTEMPT

Henry De Brunner Swallowed Poison and Died Within a Few Minutes.

When his wife tried to take away from him a beer stein into which he had poured 50 cents' worth of carbolic acid, Henry De Brunner, holding the stein poised in his hand, said to her Saturday afternoon:

"Stand back or I'll dash it in your face."

Fleeing in terror, Mrs. De Brunner ran from the kitchen of their home at 4544 North Broadway.

A moment after his wife left the room De Brunner put the stein to his lips and drained the fatal draught.

He died while being taken in an ambulance to the North End Dispensary. This was his fourth attempt at suicide and was the third time he had tried to end his life with carbolic acid.

He purchased the poison at a neighboring drug store shortly before noon, telling the clerk that he wanted to use it as a disinfectant.

De Brunner was a cabinet maker and car finisher. He was 63 years old and had a daughter and four sons. Family quarrels and disagreements with his sons were stated to be the cause of his previous attempts to kill himself.

Mrs. De Brunner told the police Saturday that her husband has been out of work and in poor health for several weeks and that he has been morose.

THINK BODY IS RICHARD WALSH'S

Family Identifies Clothing—He Was Assistant Dry Goods Cashier.

Thomas Walsh of 2223 Dickson street Saturday identified the clothing taken from the river at East St. Louis as that worn by his brother, Richard H. Walsh of 3840 Labadie avenue, who disappeared last Tuesday.

Richard H. Walsh was assistant cashier of the Hargadine-McKittrick Dry Goods Co. He had a wife and two children. His mother, Mrs. Ellen Walsh, has become ill since his departure.

MONOPOLY OF TROLLEYS FOR J. P. MORGAN

Traction Merger Under Way Is in Interest of Great Financier.

TO ABSORB SUBURBAN

Will Become Merely a Branch of the United Railways.

McCULLOCH TO MANAGE

General Manager Walsh of Suburban Co. Will Join Bigger Company.

A total of $108,000,000 in stocks and bonds is involved in the merger nearing completion of the St. Louis & Suburban System with the United Railways Co., details of which were announced in late editions of Friday's Post-Dispatch.

The United Railways Co. is dominated by the North American Co. of Philadelphia and New York. J. Pierpont Morgan and other Wall street financiers control the North American Co., which is organized under the trust laws of the State of New Jersey.

It owns street railway and electric lighting companies in Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Detroit, St. Louis and other large cities.

With the acquisition of the Suburban System the North American will have complete financial mastery over all the gas, street railway and electric lighting companies of St. Louis.

W. C. Wetmore of Oyster Bay, Long Island, is president of the North American Co. and Charles H. Huttig, president of the Third National Bank of St. Louis, is among its directors. John I. Beggs of Milwaukee is president of the United Railways Co. and is also in active charge of the St. Louis lighting plants.

President Beggs of the United Railways Co., whose headquarters are in Milwaukee, is expected here Monday, when the details of the proposed merger will be finally considered.

The question of changes in the management of the Suburban line as a result of the consolidation will be left entirely to Mr. Beggs, according to the directors of both the United Railways and Suburban companies.

No radical changes of policy are anticipated until probably 30 days after the merger is consummated.

Huttig Engineered the Deal.

It was Mr. Huttig who engineered the deal by which the Suburban will pass into the control of the North American combine.

There are 40,000 shares of Suburban stock, with an authorized capital of $4,000,000. The stockholders will receive United Railways preferred stock for their stock holdings, the exchange being made share and share alike. On the United Railways stock given in exchange no dividends will be paid until Jan. 1, 1908.

The law passed by the Missouri Legislature giving the United Railways Co. the right to acquire other street railroads provides for a universal transfer system. That is to say, the United Railways Co. is required to furnish transfers to all its branch lines not running in parallel directions, except when they intersect.

The Suburban system will be considered a branch line of the United Railways Co. and transfers will be issued accordingly, just as they now are on a division of the United Railways Co.

It is considered probable that the transfer system may go into effect within the next thirty days.

A high official of the North American Co., who attended the conference of stockholders and directors of both companies at the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. offices Friday, made the following semi-official statement in regard to the merger:

"The deal is being shaped up and undoubtedly will be consummated. It is a good thing for the Suburban stockholders and for the United Railways interests and a better thing for the public. It will permit of a more economical operation of the Suburban lines and afford the public additional transfer facilities. The merger will be perfected quickly—I should say in about thirty days for the financial end of it. About all that remains to be done is a formal ratification of the terms by the United Railways Board and the signing up of the remaining stockholders of the Suburban Railroad Co.

"The general outline of the merger plan provides that the Suburban company will cease to be a proprietary concern as soon as the transfer is legally complete. It will continue its corporate existence and occupy the same status as the St. Louis Transit Co. or any of the old independent street car corporations. Its property will be taken over by the United Railways management and operated as one or more divisions of the general system under the universal transfer method. In due time the cars will be painted yellow."

About 33,000 shares of the Suburban are held by a voting trust, but the trustees, rather than exercise their authority thereunder, have decided to leave the ratification to shareholders as individuals.

The United Railways Co. has $45,000,000 worth of stock outstanding, and a total bond issue aggregating $52,000,000. United Railways preferred stock is now selling on the local Stock Exchange at from $80 to $83 a share. The highest price bid for Suburban was $65, with $80 asked. There were no sales of Suburban at either figure.

The present officers of the Suburban Railway Co. are:

Julius S. Walsh, president; Breckenridge Jones, first vice-president; J. S. Walsh Jr., second vice-president; E. P. Sommers, secretary and treasurer, and John Moloney, general superintendent.

It is understood that General Manager Walsh has already been tendered an important position in the United Railways management. Capt. Robert McCulloch, it is announced, will continue as general manager of the United Railways Co.

The meeting at which the final details were arranged Friday was attended by the following:

Julius S. Walsh, Julius S. Walsh Jr., Ben Altheimer, C. Marquard Foster, Edwin H. Conrades, W. D. Orthwein, F. A. Faust, C. H. Huttig, Charles B. Cole and Henry Nicolaus, who represented about 17,000 shares of Suburban.

Including the Suburban addition the United Railways Co. will operate 473 miles of track in St. Louis and St. Louis County. Its directors are: John I. Beggs, president of the company; Richard McCulloch, W. V. N. Powelson, Festus J. Wade, George R. Sheldon, Charles W. Wetmore, A. D. Brown, E. E. Marshall, George L. Edwards, Eugene Delano, Murray Carleton, James Campbell, Frank R. Henry, Capt. Robert McCulloch and H. S. Priest.

BANK PRESIDENT APPEALS TO FOLK

Says Injustice Will Be Done by Granting Arkansas Requisition.

Sheriff T. C. Wilson of Hempstead County, Ark., called on Chief of Detectives Desmond Saturday relative to the charges made in Washington, Ark., against John T. Lynn of 1481 Lucretia avenue. The Sheriff was accompanied by John Holland of Washington. They told the Chief that a Justice of the Peace in Washington had issued a warrant for the arrest of Lynn, who was connected with a bank there which closed its doors several weeks ago. The Sheriff said the charge of obtaining money by false pretense, in connection with the bank closing, had been preferred against Lynn.

He said the bank, when seemingly prosperous, suddenly closed its doors, and that when the depositors broke in they found nothing but two safes and a lot of fixtures and letters, one of which made it appear that the officers of the bank had been connected with a similar institution at Howe, O. T., which failed some time ago.

The Sheriff also stated that Gov. Davis of Arkansas had written a letter to Gov. Folk asking that a requisition be granted for Lynn's arrest. As the police have had no word from Jefferson City relative to the case, Chief Desmond could do no more than detail a detective to search for Lynn.

Attorney Neff, with offices in the Century Building, who represents Lynn, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had visited Washington with Lynn when the bank was organized, and that Mr. Lynn had not violated any law of that State.

"Mr. Lynn put about $6000 in material and cash into the bank," said the attorney, "and afterward borrowed about $1100 from the bank, giving his note. He was solvent at the time and the note was good. He is willing to go to Arkansas, but the charge made against him cannot be sustained.

"We have sent an attorney with all of the papers in the case to present the matter to Gov. Folk, to prevent, if possible, injustice to Mr. Lynn. He will go to Arkansas, anyway, in his own interest. It may be that other officials of the bank have done wrong. It is stated that one of them is under arrest. But Mr. Lynn did not obtain money by false pretenses."

LEAPS OFF BRIDGE TO ESCAPE POLICE

Negro Carrying Basket of Chickens Breaks Leg by Plunge.

Bud Lunderman, a negro, of 1202 Lucas avenue, is at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, suffering from serious injuries received when he jumped from Eads Bridge, near the east tower, to avoid being arrested. His right arm and leg are each broken in two places.

Lunderman had been employed at St. Mary's Market, 108 Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis. For several weeks the proprietor had missed dressed chickens from the market, and he suspected Linderman. He reported to the police, and Patrolman Dunphy, who was detailed on the case, saw the negro come out of the basement of the market Friday morning with a covered basket, which, it was learned later, contained a dozen dressed chickens. He called for the man to halt, but Lunderman ran on.

He was later seen by two policemen on a car crossing the bridge. When he saw the policemen he jumped from the car and, running to the railing of the bridge, jumped 30 feet to the pavement.

appointment of the President and two members. This amendment was carried and the resolution so amended was adopted.

Inquiry to Be Public.

The resolution in full is as follows:

Whereas, Exception has been taken by Mr. August A. Busch, a citizen of our city, interested in the obtaining of the franchise for the Manufacturers' Railway Co., to a remark made by the President of the City Council; and,

Whereas, Mr. August A. Busch has called upon the President of the City Council to take the public into his confidence relative to all matters connected, directly or indirectly, with the passage of the Manufacturers' Railway Co. ordinance through the City Council: and.

Whereas, The President of the Council has responded to the request of Mr. Busch, with the suggestion that a public and open investigation be had concerning these matters; and,

Whereas, Public officials are but public servants, and the people are entitled to a full knowledge of all matters relating to the public business, and to the end that such knowledge may be given to the citizens of St. Louis; therefore, be it

Resolved, That a committee be appointed consisting of the President and two members of the City Council of the City of St. Louis, Mo., to investigate all matters and things connected with the introduction, passage and promotion, directly or indirectly, of the Manufacturers' Railway franchise, recently passed through the Council of the City of St. Louis, known as Council Bill No. 28.

Said committee shall have all the power and authority under the charter, ordinances and laws relative thereto, to issue subpenas, send for books and papers and administer oaths, and in all respects conduct an inquiry into the matters above mentioned fully and completely; and said committee is hereby instructed that each meeting and session thereof must be held open to the public and the press, and that all business of whatever kind transacted by said committee shall be at all times subject to the hearing and inspection of every person. Said committee shall begin its hearings immediately and complete the same as soon as possible, and shall preserve a stenographic report of the testimony taken, and a written or typewritten report to which shall be attached a copy of said testimony as soon as practicable. The committee is hereby authorized to employ any and all clerical help necessary, including a stenographer, and incur such other expenses as may be required to carry out fully the objects and purposes of this resolution, to the end that a complete investigation may be had of all matters above mentioned.

Forman Had to Serve.

The discussion that followed Cramer's amendment was the only exciting feature in the adoption of the resolution.

After Cramer had made his motion President Forman said that he did not wish to be a member of the committee, as he had started the movement to investigate.

"That's the very reason," said Cramer. "You have the facts, and so you should be on the committee. We court the fullest investigation."

Here Lesser, who always makes a point of disagreeing with Cramer, got into the discussion.

"I see no serious objection to President Forman being a member of the committee," he said, "but I don't see why he should, since he will be an important witness."

"Well," said Mr. Cramer, sarcastically, "that will enable Mr. Forman to attend all the meetings."

"O, I will manage to attend," said President Forman, peering sharply at Mr. Cramer over his spectacles.

Gardner said he agreed with Mr. Lesser. "I think it would be embarrassing for Mr. Forman to be a member of the committee," he said.

Mr. Forman then put the amendment of Mr. Cramer to vote. It was carried, 8 to 3, Ewing, Gardner and Lesser voting against the amendment and President Forman refusing to vote.

Mr. Davis, in voting for the resolution, said he was very sorry the whole affair had come about. "It is very embarrassing for me to vote on the resolution," he remarked.

The amended resolution was then carried unanimously.

JUNKET BILL KILLED.

The hopes of the members of the Railroads Crossings Commission concerning their projected $3000 junket, have gone glimmering. The Ways and Means Committee of the Council Friday afternoon reported out the bill authorizing the expenditure of the money adversely.

In spite of the adverse report of the committee, Moellman, Marks, Cramer, Linde and Thomson voted for the bill. As seven votes were necessary to carry the measure, the bill was killed.

Pure food law, containing meat inspection legislation, and legislation compelling the labeling of certain patent medicines to indicate that alcohol or noxious drugs or used in their compounding.

Adoption of lock type for Panama Canal.

Law reorganizing the consular service.

Grant of statehood to Indian Territory and Oklahoma.

Law to preserve scenic beauty of Niagara Falls.

Philippine tariff revision.

Law relieving San Francisco.

Strict naturalization law.

Authorization of biggest battleship afloat, subject to approval of definite plans for the ship at the next session of Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—President Roosevelt went to the Capitol this forenoon in order to sign bills passed during the last hours of Congress.

President Roosevelt arrived at the Capitol at 11:28 and after shaking hands with a number of Senators and Representatives began at once to sign bills.

The first session of the 59th Congress has been a strenuous session from start to finish.

The measure which caused the greatest debate is the railroad rate bill. Begun with the session, its consideration continued throughout.

The pure food enactment and the meat inspection provision are also important changes in the Federal attitude towards both the producer and consumer of the country.

A uniform and more strict method of naturalizing aliens was enacted.

Immunity for Witnesses.

The immunity of witnesses from prosecution who give testimony before Government tribunals was made the subject of an enactment which clearly states when such immunity obtains and when otherwise.

A bill removing the internal revenue tax on denatured alcohol also was passed.

The type of the Panama Canal was fixed, thus settling a question which has perplexed both the professional and the lay mind. The President is to build a lock canal, and was given a total of $39,000,000 for the year for that purpose. It was required that material for the canal should be of American manufacture unless the President shall find the prices excessive, in which case he is given authority to buy abroad.

The consular service was given a complete new legal status which will permit of an entire reorganization.

When appropriations for the session are totaled it will be found that their aggregate has reached nearly $900,000,000. This is a greater sum than has been made available since the war Congress of 1898. Of this amount $25,000,000 will go into new public buildings in various sections of the country. The legislation on appropriation bills has the characteristic throughout of being restrictive upon the Government Department heads in the matter of making their expenditures and in submitting their estimates to Congress. It has been the desire of Congress to put an end, as far as possible to deficiency appropriations.

The naval increase which has been going on annually received somewhat of a set-back.

Biggest Battleship.

"The largest battleship afloat" was authorized, but the Congress required that before bids for its construction could be submitted, the plans must be sent to Congress at its next session.

The annual appropriation for the State militia was doubled and hereafter $2,000,000 will be spent from the Federal treasury for the purpose of keeping the State military organizations in with the regular army.

Congress gave great care to the draft of a bill intended to preserve the scenic beauty of Niagara Falls and the measure was passed.

The tariff to be collected by the Philippine Government on goods entering the islands trade was revised.

A measure of importance to railroad and other employes engaged in hazardous employment known as the employers' liability bill became a law.

The Government will participate in the Jamestown Centennial Exposition and $1,325,000 was authorized expended out of the Federal treasury for that event.

Speedy appropriations for the San Francisco sufferers resulted from requests by the President, $2,500,000 being donated directly and supplies from the stores of the Government nearly equaling that amount.

Private pension legislation for the benefit of the old soldier who is unable to receive a pension under the statute laws kept up its usual heavy pace.

STORES PUT IN SEATS.

An inspection of four leading department stores made by J. C. A. Hiller, Factory Inspector of Missouri; J. W. Sikes and George McD. Johns, deputy inspectors, shows, the inspectors say, that the stores have complied with the law in furnishing seats for women employes. All the stores are equipped either with sliding seats or stools, the inspectors report.

City Attorney Anderson, who informed Prosecuting Attorney Thomas that the law was not being complied with, has been notified of the report of the factory inspectors. He has also been informed that the matter is covered by State law.

DAVIS R. BOOGHER DIES IN THE EAST

He Was Jewelry Maker and Broker Here Until Five Years Ago.

Word was received in St. Louis Saturday of the death of Davis R. Boogher, a former merchant of St. Louis and a brother of Jesse L. and Simon L. Boogher, pioneer merchants of this city. Mr. Boogher died at Fall River, Mass., of paralysis.

Mr. Boogher was in business in St. Louis up to five years ago, when he left for Washington to interest the Government in a boiler compound he had patented after years of hard work. He was successful with the invention and sold it to the Government for the Navy Department.

When here, Mr. Boogher was a manufacturing jeweler in the Southern Hotel block. After he quit the jewelry business he became a general broker and continue as such until he left for Washington. He was 64 years old when he died.

Mr. Boogher was the youngest of 10 children. A sister, Mrs. Susan B. Hays, also lives here.

Two sons, both Episcopal ministers, and one daughter, survive Mr. Boogher. They are Rev. Archer Boogher, Rev. Dudley Boogher and Miss Beulah Boogher. They all live in the East.

Denied McCann Was Dead.

The man has been in the Clayton Jail ever since his conviction. He has always maintained that McCann is alive.

Barrington appeared in St. Louis early in January, 1903, in quest of a rich wife. He called himself Lord F. Seymour Barrington and took apartments at a large hotel. He said he was a Captain in King Edward's Horse Guards. He moved soon to a boarding house on West Belle place and met Miss Wilhelmina Grace Cochrane of Kansas City, to whom he paid court and won her hand in three weeks.

His deception was discovered a week after his marriage, and he was kicked out of the West Belle place house by Miss Cochrane's brother, was arrested and sentenced to six months in the Workhouse for disturbing the peace. The publication of his distress aroused considerable sympathy and a wealty real estate man obtained his release.

Barrington was employed by a downtown saloon man as manager, and it was while in this capacity that he met McCann, a generous, sympathetic turfman, who at the first meeting handed Barrington $50. Then McCann took the stranger to his home and cared for him.

The police contend that Barrington is George Frederick Barton, a famous English crook.

HOUSE REFUSES TO RECONSIDER NEW PARK BILL

Speaker O'Brien, Acting for House, Rules Out Coale's Resolution.

PASSED IN A HURRY

Measure Involving $1,767,000 Purchase Got Through in Five Days.

PUBLIC WAS NOT HEARD

Bill Hurriedly Reported Out of Committee and Passed by Majority.

The refusal of the majority of the House of Delegates Friday night to reconsider the $1,767,000 old Fair Grounds purchase bill, which was introduced, referred to a committee, read three times and passed, all in the space of five days, has aroused much criticism and caused many rumors at the City Hall.

The bill was passed, although Comptroller Player refused to certify to it.

Under the provisions the sum to be paid is two-thirds of a million dollars more than the tract is worth, according to a committee of the Real Estate Exchange. There was no public hearing on the bill.

As the bill was passed Wednesday morning, when no member of the minority was present, the entire responsibility for the bill is laid on the majority members.

The bill was introduced in the House Friday night, June 22, by Sam Stannard. Stannard, a minority member, said he introduced the bill simply by request. The bill provided for the lease of the old Fair Grounds for park purposes for 13 years at an annual rental of $100,000. The city can then buy the tract, it was stipulated, for $467,000. This would bring the total cost up to $1,767,000.

Last Tuesday night the bill was read the second time and referred to the Ways and Means Committee, of which James Nash is chairman.

The next day, Wednesday, a special meeting of the House was held just before the trip to Chesley Island was begun. The special meeting was understood to be principally for the purpose of considering a bunch of municipal code revision bills.

No member of the minority was present. Even Stannard, who introduced the bill, was not on the floor. With 15 majority members seated, Chairman Nash reported favorably the bill, with no amendments.

No amendments to the bill were offered on the floor of the House. The bill was put on its passage and passed without a dissenting vote.

The reason given by the majority members for the rapid passage of the bill was that this was the only way to get the bill through before the Assembly adjourns for the summer.

At Friday night's meeting an effort was made by the minority to force the controlling faction to reconsider the bill. Coale introduced a resolution, in which he said that the bill was illegal and that it should be reconsidered. Speaker O'Brien ruled the resolution out of order.

As no member of the minority had voted for the bill, none of them could move to reconsider it under the rules of the House. Speaker O'Brien said that Coale's resolution was virtually a motion to reconsider, and consequently it was out of order.

"The bill is illegal," said Coale to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "It has not been certified to by the Comptroller and consequently under the provisions of the charter it is illegal. Moreover, it makes the city pay nearly a million dollars too much."

GIRL WHOSE SLAYER FLED EIGHT YEARS AGO.

MARY SANDERS.

HOPES DAUGHTER'S SLAYER IS CAUGHT

Widowed Mother of Mary Sanders Awaits Prisoner's Identification.

The identification of a man in custody at Pine Bluff, Ark., believed to be Milton F. Berry, who killed Mary Sanders in St. Louis nearly eight years ago, is being anxiously awaited by the slain woman's widowed mother, Mrs. Caroline Sanders of 2855 Ohio avenue.

Policeman James, who knew Berry, has been sent to Pine Bluff to see the prisoner, in response to a telegram from Sheriff Gould, stating that the man held resembles closely the description of the murderer.

Miss Sanders was shot to death by Berry in the parlor of her parents' home, then at 2854 South Jefferson avenue, on the evening of Aug. 17, 1898. He had been her suitor for two years, the two having met when Miss Sanders was 20 years old. Berry was a horseman and had been prosperous.

Because Mary had gone to a neighbor's house, where she remained a very short while, Berry became angry. When the young woman returned there was a scene in the parlor, where they were alone.

Five minutes after, Berry drew a revolver and fired at her three times. One bullet penetrated her temple, and she fell, fatally wounded. He fled.

Miss Sanders lingered nearly two months. Berry, who escaped, was known here as Milton F. and "Doc" Berry, Jack Murray and Jack Ransom.

DEPUTY KILLS DOG WHICH MADE PANIC

Women and Children at Creve Coeur Flee From Big, Snapping Shepherd.

A large black shepherd dog, with a heavy chain about three feet long attached to his neck, ran through the grounds at Creve Coeur Lake Friday afternoon and created a panic among the large crowd of women and children who were gathered in various places of amusement by the lake. After chasing wildly through the crowd, the animal entered the Lake Side Amusement Bar and snapped at several persons there. Deputy Sheriff J. T. Willman heard the cries of the women, and running to the scene, shot the dog twice, killing him.

The animal was first noticed running down a hill toward the park, and somebody started the cry, "mad dog!" This alarmed the women and children, and as the dog came nearer it began snapping and there was a general scramble for places of retreat.

Deputy Willman was standing near the lake when he heard the disturbance, and ran toward the scene. The dog was about 75 feet from him when he fired the first shot. It fell, but started to get up, and he shot it again.

Bigamist Taken Home.

His third wife in Michigan, who discovered his second and undivorced wife in Chicago has declared her purpose to prosecute him.

ROOT REFUSED TO TESTIFY IN MUTUAL PROBE

Trustee, Who Is Secretary of State, Declined to Answer Questions.

BIG FRAUDS REVEALED

McCurdys' Part Fully Exposed, but Report Is Vague in Other Respects.

DISCREPANCY IN BOOKS

$300,000 Disappeared in One Lump, and Evidence Indicates Larceny.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Elihu Root, Secretary of State, was one of three trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. who refused to reply to questions put to him by the Truesdale House-Cleaning Committee concerning syndicate operations, ownership of stock in subsidiary institutions, financial transactions with the company, money received from the Mutual outside of his regular fees, transactions of relatives and kindred matters.

The two other trustees who refused to answer were Richard A. McCurdy, the deposed president of the company, and his son, Robert H. McCurdy.

The sixth and final report of the Truesdale committee is made public today. In addition to the above information it discloses a mess of frauds, wasteful expenditures and, in one instance, what is probably the larceny of $300,000 in one lump.

The report is peculiarly drawn. Wherever the McCurdys, or those who are no longer in the company, are concerned, the matters dealt with are frankly stated. But in dealing with scandals in which present members of the board are concerned the report is very vague and incomplete. The details of these matters are hidden in different schedules, which have been suppressed.

On page 12 of the Truesdale report there is printed, under the divisional heading "Loans secured on mortgage or real estate," the following paragraphs:

Discrepancy in Books.

"Attention is called to discrepancy between the books of the company and those of the bond and mortgage department, whereby the latter, on Dec. 11, 1904, shows three loans aggregating $410,000 which are not included among the loans on bonds and mortgages on the general books of the company, they appearing thereon as 'temporary loans.'

"On Dec. 31, 1905, one of these loans, amounting to $300,000, was still carried on the general books as a temporary loan. The law department has no knowledge of this loan and no evidence of title has been exhibited. These three loans were all included, however, in the gross amount loaned on bonds and mortgages as shown by the company's balance sheets."

Whether this $300,000 transaction proved a clean loss to the company is not stated. All that the report says about it is given in the above quoted paragraphs. The name of the borrower is not prevented. The hidden facts are contained in Schedule D, which, like all the other schedules attached to the report, have been suppressed. Chairman Truesdale said they probably would never be given to the public. President Peabody could not be seen.

The colossal sum of $7,413,103.24 was paid between Jan. 1, 1900, and Dec. 31, 1905, to various firms for improvements, embellishments and enlargements of various buildings.

LAMM AGAINST FREEZING OUT STOCKHOLDERS

Supreme Court Judge Calls It "Business Immorality Run Amuck."

COURTS ARE DESPISED

Judicial Delay Is Not Guarantee of Immunity, He Declares.

RECEIVERSHIP IS UPHELD

Edward A. Rozier to Act for St. Francois County Corporation.

In affirming the appointment of Edward A. Rozier as receiver of the Columbia Land Co. of St. Francois County, Judge Henry Lamm of the Supreme Court at Jefferson City Saturday denounced the "freezing out" of minority stock holders in corporations as "business immorality run amuck."

In his opinion, handed down with the decision, Judge Lamm said:

"That solvent corporations are wrecked for purely selfish and illegal purposes, that minority interests are 'frozen out,' that business immorality has run amuck under the assumption that courts are powerless, is too true.

"But the assumption is wrong. Judicial hesitancy does not mean judicial atrophy or paralysis.

"The Board of Directors of a corporation are but trustees of an estate for all the stockholders, and may not only be amenable to the law, personally, for a breach of trust, but their corporate power under color of office to effectuate a contemplated wrong may be taken from them, when by fraud, conspiracy, covetous conduct or extreme mismanagement the rights of minority stockholders are put in imminent peril, and the underlying original corporate entente cordiale is unfairly destroyed.

Rozier was appointed receiver on a petition filed by minority stockholders, who alleged that a majority of the stockholders had formed an improper alliance with a majority of the Board of Directors for the purpose of wasting the property, and freezing out the minority interests.

Feared Forced Sale.

The plaintiffs were H. J. Cantwell, D. A. P. Cooke and R. D. O. Johnson. The defendants were the Columbia Lead Co., Bernard Greensfelder, Sol Roose, Max Schott, S. M. Rombauer and the American Metal Co.

The value of the property was alleged in the petition to be $800,000, and its annual income about $50,000.

It was alleged that, under the management of the Board of Directors, the property had been so wasted that there was danger of a sale being forced and that the plaintiffs might be "frozen out."

"Assuming the allegations of the petition to be true," said Judge Lamm in his opinion, "it discloses a scheme on the part of the majority of the directors of the Columbia Lead Co., some of them mere nominal stockholders, to wreck the corporate property in the interest of a wrongful combination of a majority of the stockholders with a majority of such board of directors.

"Courts have hesitated to lift the affairs and assets of a corporation out of the hands of its board of directors and administer them through receivers, and have flatly said so.

"But when all this has been said, it may be further said that this court has never denied power in a chancellor to prevent a scheme of irreparable injury and wrong merely because the movers of that scheme speak and act in a corporate capacity rather than in an individual capacity."

SCHIRMER HONOR GUEST.

New Beer Inspector Entertained by Associates.

Emil Schirmer, the new deputy beer inspector, was the guest of his former newspaper associates at a dinner given at McTague's Friday night. For 15 years Mr. Schirmer had been the representative of German newspapers at the Four Courts, and the reporters on the English press took advantage of his departure to manifest the esteem in which he is held. The dinner was served in the directors' room. Toasts were drunk to the new beer inspector, and a good start was made in his new position, although he will not be officially inducted into office until Monday.

Mr. Schirmer made an entertaining talk and his reminiscences, covering a period of 15 years, were heartily enjoyed. Those present besides the guest of honor were: Robert H. Boylan, Norman S. Childs, Frank W. Lawson, Thomas H. Lovelace, Kenneth G. Bellairs, William J. Cochran, Ralph Faulkner, John B. Hendricks, W. H. James and W. C. McCarty.

He was handcuffed to "Skippy" Rohan. Albert McMoore, negro, must serve 10 years, having been convicted of murder in the second degree. The other prisoners all have two and three-year terms to serve. Agency. I was instructed to hire automobiles, cabs and any sort of equipment I wanted, and to put my men into Delmonico's, Sherry's, the Cafe Martin, in fact, every dining place in the Broadway district. The expense often ran over $600 a day.

March 16—Mr. White now directed the work of my men in person. I engaged a number of extra operatives, including John E. Fox.

March 18—We began to shadow every man in the employ of the Greater New York Detective Agency, including the bookkeeper and stenographer. Mr. White was growing anxious and urging us to redouble our efforts.

WHITE'S BROTHER SAYS HE MUST BE PUNISHED.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 30.—Richard Mansfield White, brother of Stanford White, murdered in Madison Square Garden by Harry K. Thaw, stopped several hours in St. Paul, en route from Seattle, Wash., to New York, to urge the prosecution of Thaw.

Mr. White, despite the many published stories attacking the character of his dead brother, strongly denies the infamous conduct charged to Stanford White. He says the stories are being circulated under the influence of the Thaw millions, and asserts that plans were put in operation immediately after the murder to make a case of justifiable homicide for young Thaw, and that money is being used in large amounts to accomplish this purpose.

So contrary are Mr. White's statements concerning his dead brother to the published stories that it would seem he could scarcely be talking of the same man, who is now so generally accused of debauchery.

"My brother, Stanford White," said he, "was a model husband and father. He never was guilty of the revolting conduct charged to him; his home life was happy and he was a high-minded gentleman, not the degenerate creature the Thaw family would like to have the public believe in order that the black sheep of their flock may escape the punishment he deserves for a deliberately planned, cold-blooded murder.

Helped Struggling Actress.

"I knew of my brother's friendship for Evelyn Nesbit before she became Mrs. Thaw, and I knew that he helped this girl in an honorable way, just as he did other actresses, and actors, too. He loved art for art's sake and was kindly disposed toward anyone struggling in any of the arts. Stanford White never wronged Evelyn Nesbit, I'll take my oath, nor traduced her after she married Thaw.

"I have been entertained many times in his studio when his friends and intimates were present, and never was there at these times any of the orgies which it has been said took place in his so-called 'den.'

WITNESS DESCRIBES SCENE BEFORE TRAGEDY.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Both the District Attorney's office and the counsel for the defense today are devoting themselves to the serious work of preparing the evidence in the case of Harry K. Thaw, indicted for the murder of Stanford White Monday night.

Mrs. Thaw was the earliest visitor at the beginning of the four-hour period during which visitors are permitted to enter the Tombs. In contrast with her previous visits the streets around the prison were deserted when she arrived.

Today finds Mrs. Thaw not only a willing witness for her husband, but an active assistant for his attorneys. Yesterday she was under a gruelling examination by his lawyers for four hours, and related every incident of her life that may bear on the case. When she had finished stenographers had nearly 100 closely written sheets of the story. The examination may be continued later. Mrs. Thaw's activities did not end here, for she assumed the roles of informant and inquisitor, securing the evidence of many young women who knew Stanford White and aiding her attorneys in questioning others.

The State's lawyers were as busy as Thaw's, and this morning they delved deeper into the case, striking for the direct motive for the killing. Truxton Beal, who was with White at the dinner which preceded the shooting, has not appeared as yet. He is believed to be in Washington. His evidence is wanted to follow that of Thomas McCaleb, Thaw's California friend, who dined with the Thaws Monday night and who appeared before the Acting District Attorney yesterday.

From what could be learned his story is interesting in showing that Mrs. Thaw and he started to leave the roof garden before the shooting and were on their way out when they heard the shots. McCaleb is said to have sworn that when the shots were heard Mrs. Thaw snatched him by the arm and made this remark:

"My God! He has shot him!"

Just what reason McCaleb gave for their starting to leave before the shooting could not be learned. He said that he had gone to dinner with them at the Cafe Martin, described how they sat at the table and where White sat. The seat that White took was one facing Mrs. Thaw. McCaleb said White's name was not mentioned, however, at the dinner and that he did not see any note passed between Thaw and his wife during the dinner. When they got to the roof garden he sat down with Mrs. Thaw. After a while Thaw left them.

A somewhat startling statement was made today to the effect that the July grand jury, which comes in today, will take up the Thaw case. It was the June jury that indicted Thaw.

OIL IS SOUGHT AT EDWARDSVILLE

Leases Are Procured for August A. Busch and Another St. Louisan.

J. F. Stillwell of Edwardsville, Ill., has procured leases for oil drilling purposes on 4,000 acres of land in Madison County, Ill., at the instance of August A. Busch of St. Louis and another St. Louisan named Everett.

Mr. Stillwell said Saturday to a Post-Dispatch reporter at Edwardsville that as soon as a drill, en route from the oil fields of Kansas arrived he would begin prospecting at once.

Mr. Stillwell said that leases on all the ground available were being obtained and that he expected to lease at least 10,000 acres before he stopped. He is anxious to obtain 25,000 acres.

Offering a Royalty.

"We are offering a royalty of one-eighth output to the owners of the land," said Mr. Stillwell," and agree in the leases to begin work at a period of from 90 days to three years, differing with the various leases we have obtained.

"Mr. Busch and Mr. Everett are also developing oil land in Lawrence County, Ill., and in Oklahoma. No leases have as yet been acquired in St. Clair County, Ill."

Other leases are also being acquired in the neighborhood of the Busch-Everett land by the Crude Oil Co., a Charleston, Ill., concern, and a well is being drilled on the farm of John F. Dickman, agent for the Clover Leaf Railroad at Peters Station.

At the offices of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association it was said Saturday morning that Mr. Busch was out of the city and it was not known just when he would return.

W. W. Reynolds of Alta Sita, a contractor, was arrested Friday night on a charge of assault and battery and A. M. Hughes, a piano tuner, was arrested on the same charge and another of obtaining money under false pretenses. Both gave bond for trial on the cross charges. The argument arose over a sale of a piano to Reynolds by Hughes. Reynolds said Hughes had no right to sell it. A company later replevined the piano and took it away from Reynolds.

FIGHT OVER ICEWATER.

Judge Stays Fines After Talking of Ice Trust.

As the result of a quarrel over a bucket of ice water, Clarence and Clements Dunlap of 3608 South Jefferson avenue, Grant M. Corry of 3430 Texas avenue, Louis Lammers of 1122 McLean street, William Lacase of 1144 Madison street and Frank Gabelmann of 1923 O'Fallon street were fined $5 each in the Dayton Street Police Court Saturday.

After a few remarks on the hot weather of Friday and the Ice Trust as things that might almost justify men in fighting over ice water, Judge Pollard stayed the fines upon the promise of the men to drink together in peace in the future.

The men are employed on a building at Fourteenth and Benton streets. Friday, acording to the testimony, Lammers went to the water bucket and was met there by Corry. All agreed that there was a fight, in which all joined.

SPIRAL HAIRCUT, FAD AMONG BALLPLAYERS, REVIVAL OF SHINGLE

Circular, Upward Movement of Clippers, Which Removes Hair Closely, Gives Name to Method Particularly Popular With Members of Ravens Baseball Team.

The "spiral haircut," inaugurated or received, by the fashionables in the vicinity of Grand and Sullivan avenues, including several princes of the diamond who this week have been hunting scores in Sportsman's Park, is the most modern caprice.

It is designed more for comfort than beauty, but the distinguished men who have permitted their heads to be dressed in the "spiral" manner have excited wide comment, and it is likely that very shortly the fashion will be almost universal in St. Louis.

The "spiral haircut" is distinctly a summer style, and when exposed in unscreened places may cause the owner considerable annoyance through the assaults made upon it by flies. However, with a light covering, it is cool, and, if the wearer be scarless, not unattractive.

The mode is largely in vogue among the residents in certain State and Federal institutions, where the rules prescribe that all who dwell there shall adopt this peculiar fashion.

Among the more prominent of those who have adopted the style and appeared where it was noticeable to a degree are Messrs. Pelty, Spencer, O'Connor and Nordyke of the St. Louis Ravens; Beckley of the Cardinals.

Mr. Pelty Gets Craze.

When Mr. Pelty, the Farmington phenomenon, bared his head to mop the perspiration from his brow, the other day, and the sun's rays settled upon him, his pate glistened like the glided dome of a cathedral.

It sparkled and flickered and by these little shoots of radiance only was it made apparent that Mr. Pelty's mansard was covered with a stubby growth of bristles.

In the course of the afternoon the others of the quartet of Mr. Hedges' group of ball artists doffed their caps and revealed the same conditions, and the spectators marveled greatly. Each had the "spiral haircut."

A number of eminent barbers in the downtown district were ignorant of the "spiral" method, when approached by a Post-Dispatch reporter, but they had heard that there is such a thing and were anxious to have the modus operandi explained.

For their edification, a tonsorial premier of North Grand avenue, who is practically the official hair remover for the Sportsman's Park crowd, issued the following recipe:

"The victim is disposed in the chair as for any other species of haircut, as the feather edge, the pompadour, the shingle, the half-shingle, the football and others, whereupon the barber selects a pair of clippers.

"He grasps the clippers with the thumb and middle finger of the right hand, seizes the victim by the nape of the neck with the left, and, beginning at the neck hair line, manipulates the instrument in such manner as to sever the hairs close to the scalp.

Circular, Upward Motion.

"He runs the clippers in a sweeping motion, circling upward toward the forehead, continuing the operation until the hirsute growth is entirely removed, or made so short as to have to be plucked out with tweezers. It is the circular, upward motion which gives the haircut the name 'spiral.'

"In brief, the 'spiral haircut' is simply a revival of the old 'shingle' under a more modern appellation. It is becoming very popular, particularly among those who perspire freely, affording excellent opportunities for frequent cool shampoos and such a delightful tickling of the hand when the member is slid over the head that babies cry for it."

This barber reports that he is doing a land-office business in the "spiral haircut" line.

MONEY IS NEEDED TO DISTRIBUTE FREE ICE AND PURE MILK

Help in the Work of Saving the Babies Whom Bad Food and Hot Weather Threaten With Extinction—A Fund of $6400 Is Needed in the Crusade.

With the coming of hot weather comes the crying need for money to buy ice and pure, sterilized milk for the babies in the tenements of St. Louis.

This is the great summer charity for which the Post-Dispatch has annually appealed to the well-to-do people of St. Louis.

Corner groceries in the quarters of the city where the poor are numerous sell milk that is almost an active poison to the little ones forced to live on it. The lack of care for this milk, its uncleanliness and its poor quality make it an unfit food. The Pure Milk Commission, which is composed of earnest ladies and gentlemen, many of whom are physicians, supplies sterilized milk at the following stations at the actual cost of the milk to all mothers who will buy it, and gives milk free to those who are unable to pay for it:

St. Louis City Mission, 14 North Seventh street; St. Louis Provident Association, 1623 Washington avenue; United Jewish Charities, Ninth and Carr streets; Niedringhaus Memorial Settlement, Seventh street and Cass avenue; Sloan Mission, 803 Hickory street; Milk Laboratory, 1726 North Thirteenth street; South Side Day Nursery, 1621 South Tenth street; Broom's grocery, 2619 Cass avenue; Reinagle's market, 911 South Fourteenth street; Kleinhahn candy store, 2318 Chouteau avenue; St. Louis Children's Hospital, Jefferson avenue and Adams street; Haefner's confectionery, 3538 South Broadway; Holy Cross Mission Dispensary, 1402 North Fourteenth street; Everding Bros., 502 South Jefferson avenue; City Dispensary, Branch No. 1, Broadway and Salisbury street; Shenandoah Avenue Baptist Church Mission, Seventh street and Shenandoah avenue; Herman Frieh's bakery, 320 Victor street.

Ice, which few of the patrons of these stations can afford, is needed to keep this milk in good condition in the homes. The Post-Dispatch appeals to you for money to buy this ice and distribute it, and to aid the Pure Milk Commission in its work of sterilizing and distributing milk which will save babies' lives.

If you could see the tortured, poisoned babies restored to health by pure milk, your purse strings would fly open to give the means for the fullest extension of this great charity.

If you could realize how the lack of money means the painful death of many babies, you would account yourself criminal for having failed to give generously of your abundance.

Much money is needed. Give little or much, but give all you can afford, and give quickly.

Every contribuiont will be acknowledged in the Post-Dispatch as soon as received.

OH, JOY! TERMINAL IS MAKING MONEY!

World's Fair Year Was Time of Loss, but Sky Is Brighter Now.

With a deficit of $41,834 in the earnings of the Wiggins Ferry Co., the other members of the Terminal combine, the Terminal Railroad Association, the Merchants' Bridge Terminal Railway Co. and the Interstate Transfer Co., aggregated surplus earnings of $624,106 above all expenses in 1905. This is shown by statements of the Terminal people.

The statement gives the Wiggins Ferry Co. credit for a surplus of $266,362 in 1904 and the Interstate Car Transfer Co. for a surplus of $4197 for that year, but says the Terminal Railroad Association had a deficit of $966,859 in the World's Fair year, while the deficit of the Merchants' Bridge Co. was $92,901 that year.

The statements are said by Albert T. Perkins to be partly from sworn reports. Mr. Perkins, who is the railroad expert for the Municipal Terminal Association, explains that the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis is not an organization doing business for direct profit, but is merely an agency for 14 proprietary railroads. No dividends have ever been paid, Mr. Perkins says, and whenever there is a surplus after paying interest on bonds and other expenses it is put into improvements. The through rates of the railroad companies, he says, absorb the greater part of the freight earnings.

KANSAS' SISTER SHIP

Miss Hazel McLane, Daughter of Governor of New Hampshire, Christens Ship.

CAMDEN, N. J., June 30.—Five workmen were injured today in an accident at the launching of the battleship New Hampshire at the yards of the New York Shipbuilding Co. in this city.

The men were injured while at work clearing away the props which held the big vessel. The timbers gave way without warning and the men were hurled some distance by being hit by the props. James Campbell of Gloucester and Joseph Kappakinski were taken to a hospital severely bruised about the head and body. Campbell's condition is said to be serious. The other workmen are only slightly injured.

Miss Hazel E. McLane, daughter of Gov. McLane of New Hampshire christened the battleship. Miss Marion Shortwell of Cambridge, N. H., and Miss Margaret Thayer of Concord were maids of honor.

Gov. McLane and his staff and other distinguished persons witnessed the launching.

The New Hampshire is a sister to the battleship Kansas, which was recently launched.

Dimensions and Speed.

The new battleship is about 50 per cent capacity. The contract under which the battleship was built calls for a maintenance of 18 knots speed for a period of four consecutive hours. The hull is of steel throughout and is fitted with bilge and docking keels. The general dimensions are: Length on load water line, 450 feet; length over all, 456 feet 4 inches; extreme beam to molding, 75 feet 5½ inches; to outside of plating, 76 feet 8 inches; extreme beam to outside of armor, 76 feet 10 inches.

The battleship's propelling power will consist of twin screws, four cylinder, triple expansion engines of a combined indicated horsepower of 16,500. Each engine will be placed in a separate water-tight compartment.

FAITH ATTACKED WITH WOODEN SHOE

His Hope of Release Realized, but He Shows Little Charity.

Richard Thomas of Shiloh Valley was fined $50 and costs by Justice Wangelin of Belleville because he used a wooden shoe as a weapon of carnal warfare against George Faith.

Thomas and Faith had an altercation over a remark alleged to have been made by Thomas. During the dispute Thomas pulled a wooden shoe from his foot and struck Faith on the head. Both men were fined under the village ordinance for fighting. Thomas paid his fine. Faith refused to pay and was put to work on the village streets.

The Village Board heard of the affair. They had faith in the innocence of Faith, and a special meeting was called, at which resolutions were passed ordering the Village Marshal to release Faith.

Faith had more Hope than Charity. He swore out a State warrant against Thomas in Justice Wangelin's court. As he had hoped, Thomas entered a plea of guilty.

GIRL ASKED MARRIAGE.

Greenway Says He Will Plead Not Guilty.

Edward Greenway, 31 years old, whose elopement and marriage with Kathleen Luette Mitchell, 13 years old, two weeks ago was followed by the issuance of a warrant against him charging him with attacking her, outlined his defense to a Post-Dispatch reporter in the Four Courts holdover Saturday morning. Greenway was arrested Friday night.

"I married Kathleen at her own solicitation," he said. "It was she who proposed marriage and not I. She thought a whole lot of my 5-year-old boy and I believed she would make a good stepmother. I don't see why Mrs. Mitchell wanted to prosecute me. I thought she was a good friend of mine. I'm sure I would have taken good care of Kathleen. My intentions were genuine. I'm surprised to hear that Kathleen says she's tired of married life. She seemed perfectl contented while she was with me."

Greenway has been staying at 601 Market street since his separation from his child bride. He will be arraigned in the Court of Criminal Correction Monday, when he says, he intends to plead not guilty to the charge against him.

INVENTOR OF PLOW DIES.

J. Q. A. Newsom Was Former Indiana Official.

After spending 25 years in perfecting an invention and after convincing business men of its merits and organizing a company for its manufacture, John Quincy Adams Newsom died on the day before the final demonstration was to be made. He will be buried at his old home in Bartholomew County, Indiana, Sunday.

The invention was a rotary plow, quite different from any other. A company was formed, and Saturday was the day set for a public demonstration of the plow at Spring avenue and Natural Bridge road.

Mr. Newsom was 70 years old. He was formerly Secretary of State of Indiana. He came to St. Louis five years ago, and has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Chapman, at 3838 Laclede avenue.

AUTO ENDS LIFE OF MRS. TANNER

Wife of G. A. R. Commander Caught Under Machine as It Overturns.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HELENA, Mont., June 30.—Mrs. James Tanner, wife of the Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, was killed yesterday afternoon in an automobile accident here.

Commander Tanner was here inspecting the Department of Montana, G. A. R. Yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Tanner, Mrs. J. K. Toole, wife of the Governor, and Gen. Lester Wilson of Bozeman made up an automobile party to visit points in the vicinity of the city. On the way to Fort Harrison, while going at a fairly swift rate along a narrow road, the chauffeur turned out to make room for a freight wagon. The road runs along an embankment, and was so narrow that the automobile ran off the edge, turned over and threw the occupants out.

Mrs. Tanner struck the ground first and Mrs. Toole and Gen. Wilson fell on top of her. Mrs. Tanner was unconscious and was taken immediately to the hospital, dying just as she reached there. The other members of the party were not seriously hurt.

SAYS SHE WAS JEALOUS.

Woman Who Wants Divorce Says She Had Cause.

It is for Circuit Judge Douglas to determine whether Viola Allen was jealous of her husband, Lloyd S. Allen, without cause, or whether she had a good right to be jealous of him. Mr. Allen has complained to the Court that Mrs. Allen made life miserable for him by being jealous of him without cause. Mrs. Allen has admitted that she was jealous and has sought to have it appear that she had good reason to be.

Allen filed suit against his wife. She filed a crossbill. He withdrew his suit. The case went to trial on her crossbill. After her side had been heard Thursday, Judge Douglas directed that the husband be brought into court. He was there Friday afternoon and the Judge heard his side.

Mrs. Allen had testified that he associated with other women, kissed them, took them to summer gardens and theaters and gave them money, clothing and jewelry, and that all this time he was refusing to take her to call on her friends, or to church. Judge Douglas took the case under advisement.

SUES OWN PRESIDENT.

Milling Company Says Business Was Affected.

The Sessinghaus Milling Co. has filed suit in the Circuit Court against Christopher J. Hanebrink of 3609 North Ninth street, former president and manager of the company, for $25,000 actual and $25,000 punitive damages. The petition alleges that during the time that he was president he caused to be put on the market inferior grades of flour, under brands on which the company had won a reputation for excellence. It is said that the business was so adversely affected by this that it was necessary to discontinue paying dividends and conduct the business at a loss and that there was impairment of the stock and assets of the company.

It is also alleged that Hanebrink speculated in futures with the funds of the company without authorization.

COMMISSION PROTESTS.

Drayage Allowance by Southern Objected To.

The Municipal Bridge and Terminal Commission has sent a letter to D. O. Ives, chairman of the Committee of St. Louis Lines East of the Mississippi River, protesting against the action of the Southern Railway relative to its proposal to make drayage allowances to transfer companies after July 15 on transfer business between St. Louis and East St. Louis. The letter says that such an allowance would discriminate against St. Louis merchants who desire to haul their own freight from St. Louis stations, and would enable transfer companies hauling freight from East St. Louis to charge as they please to merchants having no contracts with them.

The letter also said that the commission has found evidence that contracts are being made with certain transfer companies for the delivery of less than carload lots of freight direct from East St. Louis freight houses to store doors in St. Louis at rates from 1 to 2 cents above the St. Louis rates.

MINISTRY OF GOREMYKIN TO BE RETIRED

Grand Duke Informs Associated Press That Decision Had Been Reached.

CZAR'S ADVICE CONFLICTS

Some Counsellors Say Yield to Parliament, Others Recommend a Fight.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 30.—Late this afternoon the press was informed upon the authority of a Grand Duke that the retirement of the Goremykin Ministry had been definitely decided upon.

The uppermost question now is how long the present deadlock between Parliament and the Government can continue.

Prof. Goremykin is no longer a factor in the situation, but some of his colleagues, headed by Minister of Agriculture Stiockinsky, realizing that, unless the Government fights, the Cabinet must fall, are earnestly advising the Emperor to take the bull by the horns and dissolve Parliament.

They have submitted a memorandum to the Emperor advising him to take this course on the ground that Parliament has ceased to be a legislative body and is simply the center of revolutionary agitation and urging that immediate action is necessary. They contend that the army as a whole can still be relied upon.

Finance Minister Kokosovs and Minister of Justice Chichegiovitoff, on the other hand consider that an attempt to forcibly dissolve Parliament would be fatal. The former, who is ambitious to become Premier, seems to be championing the formation of a mixed, responsible ministry in the hope that the Emperor will charge him to undertake its formation.

Warships Escort Czar.

In the meantime it is announced that the cruise which the Emperor and his family will take in Finnish waters will be made at the end of next week. The Imperial yacht will be escorted by two warships.

The estate in Orel province of Prince Sviatopolkirsky, the former Minister of the Interior, was burned by peasants last night. Cossacks have been dispatched to the scene.

M. Aniken and Alladin, the peasant leaders in Parliament have received a warning from the "League for the Salvation of Russia" of Odessa that they have been sentenced to death.

A sergeant belonging to the Onega regiment which has just returned from the Baltic provinces, where it participated in the suppression of the revolutionary disorders, was killed yesterday in front of his company at the Krasnoe-Selo camp. The company was presumed to fire a round of blank cartridges, but the sergeant fell dead with a bullet through his body. There is no doubt that he was killed by design.

WENNEKER PARK BILL IS KILLED

Mayor Objects Because It Did Not Prohibit Transfer of Privilege.

The bill granting August H. Wenneker the privilege to sell light refreshments in Forest Park, which recently passed the Municipal Assembly, has been killed. Friday afternoon the Mayor sent the bill to the Council with his veto, and the Council sustained the veto unanimously.

The Mayor objected to the bill because it did not prohibit the transfer of the privilege from Wenneker to another person. This, said the Mayor in his message accompanying the veto, was a bad precedent.

MONOPOLIZED PUBLIC UTILITIES.

By the expected absorption of the Suburban Railway property by the United Railways Co., announced in Friday's Post-Dispatch, the monopolizing of the public service utilities of St. Louis under the control and management of one company will, with the exception of the waterworks and two very small companies, be complete. The North American Co., a corporation with desk room in New Jersey, will own, control and manage all other public utilities in this city. The New Jersey corporation will control practically all the street railways, gas and electric light companies, capitalized at from two to three times their actual value. This monopoly of monopolies will levy tribute and tax the users of electric and gas light, heat, power and transportation, all of which must be bought and paid for on their terms.

The absorption of the Suburban is the final consummation of the corrupt Central Traction franchise job put through the Municipal Assembly and exposed in the boodle trials, and of the infamous street railway consolidation bill pushed through the State Legislature. Since the authorization of these monopolies the North American Co. has merged all the separate monopolies into one gigantic combine which holds the [illegible] of St. Louis in its power.

The total capitalization of the two street railway properties which are consolidated amounts to about $111,000,000. The actual value of roadway and equipment should not exceed $40,000,000, leaving the difference or about $70,000,000 of pure plunder which the people of St. Louis are expected to make good through nickel fares. Whether the absorption will result in more water and a greater burden on the people is yet to be determined.

What benefit, aside from the transfer system, are the people of St. Louis getting in this tremendous monopolization with its attendant economies? The fares paid now far exceed in the aggregate a fair return on the money invested. The earnings are increasing rapidly every year. All of the benefits of the consolidation and of the tremendous growth in the value of the franchises, due to the increase of population and the increased necessary use of the street railways, go into the pockets of the monopolists.

It is high time that St. Louis take steps to obtain a fair share of these benefits and to prevent the acquisition of millions of dollars of plunder by the street railway monopolists. It is high time to demand reduced fares and to take steps to enforce that demand.

ELECTION OF SENATORS.

Gov. Cummins of Iowa has issued invitations to the governors of the 45 States to appoint delegates to a conference at Des Moines, Sept. 5, to consider the election of United States Senators by popular vote.

An approach to this method has been made in several States where candidates have been selected by party conventions or primaries and the legislatures have uniformly respected the will of the people so expressed. But a member of the Legislature is under no legal obligation to obey the mandate of his party and can refuse to vote for his party candidate without incurring any penalty, save the odium of bolting. At the last election in Missouri some Republicans refused to obey the caucus. The result was the defeat of the regular nominee. This may be expected to occur under the convention or primary system. The only absolute guarantee against such a fiasco is election by the people direct.

Already 17 States have called for a constitutional amendment to effect this reform. Art. V of the Constitution provides that on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the States Congress shall call a convention for proposing amendments. The amendments proposed by such convention shall be ratified by three-fourths of the States through the legislatures or conventions, according as the one or the other mode shall be proposed by Congress. The same articles provides that Congress itself may propose amendments by a two-thirds vote of both houses. But since many senators incline to oppose a change in the mode of their election Congressional action will be difficult to procure. The better plan will be to rely upon the States for initiative. The necessary two-thirds will be made up when 14 more States swing into line with the 17 which have already expressed themselves.

It will be seen that the movement has already obtained considerable headway. The Des Moines conference, if rightly constituted, should crystallize sentiment and contribute just the momentum needed to carry through the reform. With a good organization and the delegates working in harmony under instruction from the conference opposition can be speedily overcome.

THE CASE FOR ST. LOUIS.

When from a central point of manufacturing supply with railroad and river connection to all points of the compas, 30,000,000 people can be reached with factory products as they are turned out, it is certainly one of the most convincing reasons for locating new manufacturing plants at such a point.

This is one of the arguments of the pamphlet on St. Louis as a manufacturing center, which the Business Men's League is now circulating.

It goes so far that it ought to reach every manufacturer who is looking not only for the best point of manufacture, but also for the best point for the distribution of his product, on which success finally depends.

There is another point, however, of not less importance. This territory with 30,000,000 people in it at present, is the territory with the greatest opportunities, the most room, the most assured certainty of doubling its population in half the lifetime of a well-grounded and substantial factory.

New England is so far over-populated now that it is no longer self-supporting. The same conditions are apparent in New York and Pennsylvania. But this St. Louis territory is not only self-supporting with its present population. It is largely a feeder of New England, New York and Pennsylvania and it will continue to be so with twice its present population.

Those who look into these conditions will understand for themselves why St. Louis has "To the Front" for its motto.

A QUESTION ANSWERED BY LAW.

A "quo warranto" proceeding in the courts is a question. When Circuit Attorney Sager institutes such a proceeding in the case of any corporation doing a "bucket-shop" business, the question asked by the courts is by what warrant or right of law corporations can exist for such purposes.

Outside of quo warranto proceeding in the courts, there is no question of what law means for bucket-shop gambling. It can mean only one thing—its suppression.

That is the answer as the law gives it in the plainest black and white.

THE MILK AND ICE FUND.

Free ice and pure milk are needed by the babies in the tenements of St. Louis. The Post-Dispatch appeals to the generous well-to-do citizens for money that may be used in the purchase and distribution of ice to those homes where otherwise it will never go and for the upholding of the hands of the Pure Milk Commission which supplies to the poor the proper food for babies.

In former years thousands of children have been saved from terrible suffering and death through the Post-Dispatch agencies which brought sterilized milk and the ice to keep it sweet within their reach. More money is needed this year, much more money, for there are more babies and the individual purchaser must pay an increased price for ice.

It is gratifying to learn that the Polar Wave Ice Co. has agreed to let the King's Daughters, who are the ice-distributing agents of the Post-Dispatch Free Ice and Pure Milk Fund, have ice at 20 cents a hundred pounds. This is a generous price and will enlarge the purchasing value of every penny contributed to the Fund. But the increase in the regular rate charged householders for ice will debar many who need it most from purchasing and increase the demands upon this charity.

Your contribution to the Free Ice and Pure Milk Fund is needed, be your means great or small. Whatever sum you give will be gratefully acknowledged in the columns of the Post-Dispatch and it will be used solely and wholly for the benefit of the babies of the poor.

It is said that the appropriations of the Fifty-eighth Congress will aggregate $2,000,000,000. This means (assuming that the population of these United States is near 90,000,000) that every father, every mother and ever child—down to the littlest baby—in this broad land must pav over $20 for Federal expenses.

SOMEBODY STICKS TO THE FARM.

From the New York World.

But while farmers' boys leave the farm other people's boys seem to get back to the farm somehow. The last census returns showed that the number of farms had increased from 1,449,073 in 1850 to 5,739,657 in 1900. The increase in number of farms was to the increase in population as 4 to 3.3. While there was one farm in 1850 for every 16 persons of population, there was one in 1900 for every 13.3 persons. The improved acreage had increased in 50 years from 113,032,614 to 414,793,191, and the total value of farms had advanced from $3,967,343,580 to $20,514,001,838.

THE SPORT MAN AND THE POET.

For me it is to juggle words
  And set them in a chime,
To sing, as do the little birds,
  And hew me out a rhyme.
For him it is to fire away,
  No matter what for shot,
For any old thing he may say
  Is bound to hit the spot.

For me it is to polish phrase
  As lapidaries do
The beryl-tinted chrysophrase
  And diamond azure blue;
But not for him the syllabus
  Wherein the poets root:
He needs but load his blunderbuss
  And shut his eyes and shoot.

For me it is to haply sing
  Some little thing so well
As in the reading host to ring
  Some isolated bell.
For him it is, though he may preach
  Redundant prose and rude,
To fire at random and to reach
  A panting multitude.

For me it is to pare and fit
  A letter here and there,
And tediously work with it
  To split the rythmic hair;
But he has no such subtly-done
  And trying sum to get:
He only needs his trusty gun
  And our old alphabet.

AT THE CANAL.

President Roosevelt had reached Panama. Stepping out on the towpath, he looked westward along the Canal, lifted his arm in prophetic gesticulation, and said in imperial tone:

"The door to the East!"

"The Theodore to the East, as it were," said one of the bystanding engineers.

The President turned upon the speaker, beaming.

"Loeb," he said, and they had never seen him look so pleased, "see to it that this gentleman is promoted."

NOT FOR HER.

"But I have money," he said, refusing to be refused. "There is nothing you cannot have."

"But where did you get your money?" she asked.

"Er-r——"

"And how?"

"Er-r——"

"Is it tainted?"

"Er-r——"

"No, I don't think I care to marry you. I wouldn't mind spending your money, but I shouldn't care to defend it."

Heart-broken, he withdrew, cursing his father.

INTERVIEWS BY THE OFFICE BOY

Written for the Post-Dispatch

BEING apprised of the controversy raging between Prof. McGee and Park Commissioner Aull as to whether the last of the Texas long-horns should have a place in the Forest Park Zoo, I set out yesterday to see these gentlemen and get both sides of the story. It seems there are two sides, though Mr. Aull says the McGee steer is too lean to say with certainty whether there are two sides or one.

"I protest," said Prof. McGee, "against calling this noble and patriarchial creature a bum steer. It is eminently more fitting and infinitely more respectful to science to refer to him as the Genus Bos. He is, indeed, a great curiosity, and if he were in the park the people would no more think of looking at the other Packingtown pets out there than the Genus Bos himself would deign to notice them. He is a first cousin of the great Aurochs of the time of Caesar, the leading ruminant of the family Bovidae, and a creature of such mighty prowess that throughout the palmy days of Rome he had the distinction of wearing a gold ring in his nose and appearing in the Circus Maximus in close association with the fairest Christians of that day. In that golden age, when people knew a prize steer from a muley cow, the splendid Bos was not only given the freedom of the parks, but he was so revered that his great horns were mounted in silver standards and kept in the best families as fancy steins. One of these, preserved almost to the nineteenth century at Zabern, near Strassburg, would hold three quarts. I don't think Mr. Aull has anything in his Zoo with horn enough to hold more than a milkman's pint. For the Park Commissioner's benefit I will say that my Genus Bos is no bum steer, as he thinks, but is descended in the royal line from the extinct Sivatherium, which carried a superb pair of fleugelhorns and made sweet music when he blew his nose. He is also the first cousin of the Cavicornia, or hollow-horned ruminants, including the noblest and most prized of all living quadrupeds, the Giraffa Camelopardalis, which could lick the paint off the Courthouse dome."

Mr. Aull, being seen, said: "I object to these scientific names. When Prof. McGee announced the capture of a Genus Bos for the Zoo, I naturally supposed he had some creature with a Greek head, a Sanscrit skin, a Latin tail and a mane like one of the Sutherland sisters. When it arrived, it proved to be a flea-bitten, spavined, lumpy-jawed, locoed, loose-jointed, lobwolly old Texas steer. It is so poor its bones rattle when it walks. It is so lifeless that you could shoot a firecracker in its ear and never get a twitch of its tail. It has long horns, to be sure, but they look like a couple of pieces of twisted gas-pipe, and when it walks it suggests a funeral march by the little German band. Prof. McGee wants us to feed it and keep it until it dies. Since seeing the brute, I am uncertain what it eats, probably policemen, and I don't think it will die. It is about 900 years old now, and the lightning appears to have struck it several times. I think it is an immortal and an invention of the devil."

Lap.

When the shades of night have fallen,
  When the sun has gone to sleep,
And the stars, like diamonds, brilliant,
  From the blue begin to peep,
In my favorite chair I'm seated;
  On the door a gentle tap,
And dear voices break the silence:
  "Want to sit on daddy's lap!"

LATER.

Now the boy has grown to manhood,
  And he does not go to sleep
When the stars, like diamonds, brilliant,
  From the blue begin to peep;
But he sits there on the sofa
  With but little gas on tap,
And a bass voice breaks the silence:
  "Come and sit on lovey's lap!"

A Lake in the Park.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Now that the warm weather has come we all feel an inclination to be on the water. The lakes in the parks accessible to most of the people are so small and the Meramec River so dangerous, besides being so far away.

There is ample room in Forest Park for a lake even larger than the Post-Dispatch Lake was before the Fair. I would suggest having a lagoon around the old Fair site similar to the one at the Fair with a large basin. There could be a place reserved for swimming. Such a lake would be a great boon to the people of St. Louis.

Behind the Times.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I waited for three quarters of an hour yesterday on the corner of Eighth and Olive for a through car and only McPherson, Maryland, Lindell Entrance and Wellston cars came by. After a while I asked a policeman what was the matter with the through cars. He said that Wellston was the same as a through car. I was half an hour late and I do not know whether it was my fault or the company's. I never saw any notice in your paper about the change.

The Case of Bid Dubbs.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Bid Dubbs sat on a fence rail for three hours Tuesday, whittling.—Leesburg (Mo.) Light.

To sit on a fence rail requires little energy. It is something, of course, if the sitting be graceful, and of course that Bid was graceful goes without saying, as it were, so to speak, nevertheless, and so on. But grace is not the whooptoroura of life. It doesn't put butter on the pancakes. It doesn't buy peanuts at the circus. So, with all his beauty of movement and the artistic detail with which he draped his legs about the fence, Bid stands convicted, unless, perchance, our hero be the victim of some envious slanderer, of—killing time!

But still the incident may be of some value as a warning to the youth of America. The spirit of modern America may be summed up in the little word Hustle. The man who sits on a fence rail for three hours and whittles belongs to another age and another land. He is un-American. He is wasting golden opportunities. He is allowing his life to go by and the world to turn around without his accomplishing what he ought to accomplish. In the three hours that Bid sat on the fence rail he could have gone to the village store and postoffice and with a few other sages of Leesburg solved all the problems of the Government. He could have read a book. He could have made up his mind, packed his clothes in a bandanna, caught the train and headed for the city to become a millionaire. Instead, he sat on a rail and whittled!

Are you a Bid Dubbs? Do you, figuratively speaking, sit on the fence rail and whittle? Are you allowing opportunities to slip past? Are you letting the "other fellow" get ahead of you in the contest for modest, lithesome, bewitching Nancy? If so, change your ways. Don't be a Bid Dubbs. The Bid Dubbses never amount to anything.

THE ONCE-A-WEEK BOOK CLUB

Other Book Reviews Written for the Post-Dispatch.

WHEN the members of the Once-a-Week Book Club assembled to discuss "The District Attorney," by William Sage, (Little, Brown & Co., Boston), the Literary Grain Broker began by asking what seemed to be an irrelevant question.

"Have any of you read Mr. Dooley's article on Packingtown and 'The Jungle?'" he inquired, and, being answered in the affirmative, continued: "Well, it seems to me that here's another illustration of his point that the trust should hire a bunch of novelists to present their side of the case in the form of enlightening fiction. 'The District Attorney' makes quite a powerful assault on the octopus, and the cumulative effect of all these anti-monopoly novels is getting to be a pretty serious thing for the trusts to face."

"Mr. Dooley's suggestion is ingenious," commented the High School Teacher. "But if our octopus-fighting story tellers aren't careful, they'll render a novelist's defense of the trusts superfluous by overshooting their own mark. The first thing you know, if there isn't a let-up in the output of 'trust exposure' fiction, the whole thing will become a joke and the effect of the really strong novels in this field will be more or less destroyed."

"That's right," chimed in the former Congressman. "In politics we don't ask anything better than for the other side to turn all its spellbinders, good, bad and indifferent, loose on one theme, because we know that then the public will get tired of it and begin to poke fun at the whole thing, instead of taking it seriously. It seems to me that American novelists are making rather too much of a 'bargain-counter rush' at the octopus, even though he has got so many tentacles. The reading public will resent being bored by encountering one or more of the tentacles in nearly every new novel.

"All the same," remarked the Artist, "it seems to me that Mr. Sage has written quite a clever story in 'The District Attorney.' That plan of making the lawyer son of a trust magnate espouse the cause of the people and take the lead in fighting his father's own trust organizations is decidedly effective."

"Dramatically speaking," said the Old Playgoer, "the author doesn't carry the story quite far enough. He could have worked up a much more powerful situation than he did in bringing Richard Haverland face to face with his father in following the trail of the trusts. He ought to have shown the penitentiary threatening old Haverland as the result of the son's crusade. The father's punishment, too, was the logical next step following the conviction of United States Senator Cadwell for bribery."

"That's all very well," laughed the Kindergarten Director. "But what would we think of a hero who put his own father in convict stripes?"

"Haven't we always applauded the ancient Roman who sentenced his own son to death?" asked the Old Playgoer. "Consistency is a jewel, and these heroes who put their hands to the reform plowshare mustn't turn back if they find their fathers in the furrow line. I think Author Sage dodged this issue when he killed off old Haverland in the next to last chapter."

"Has it struck you," inquired the former Congressman, "that there's a good deal of Joe Folk of Missouri in the character of Richard Haverland, the boodle-fighting District Attorney? In his shrewd methods of 'bluffing' confessions from one or more of the little fish in the boodle cesspool, and then springing these confessions so suddenly n the big rascals as to force them to betray themselves, young Haverland so closely follows Mr. Folk's tactics as to make me think that the character is modeled on Missouri's present Governor."

"I noticed that, too," agreed the Literary Grain Broker. "And there are many other little points of similarity encouraging a belief that Mr. Sage has been studying the Missouri anti-boodle fight and taking a tip or two from its central figure. Young Haverland's single-minded adherence to his oath of office is very like Folk's, and his prosecuting methods are almost identical."

"Well, that's one of the sure penalties—or rewards—of occupying a highly dramatic position on the world's stage," said the Old Playgoer. "I've been expecting to see Folk in a novel or a play any time these last two years, and I don't think 'The District Attorney' is the last book in which we'll find him. You must remember that he stands for all that's effective thus far in boodle or trust fighting. Attorney-General Hadley of Missouri threatened to run him a neck-and-neck race a little while ago, but Hadley's Standard Oil investigation didn't pan out quite as tangibly resultful as Folk's work. Folk is still in the lead as the Siegfried who slays the Boodle-and-Trust dragon."

"I thought the love story in 'The District Attorney' a very pretty one," ventured The Girl. "It seemed so fitting, too, that Richard Haverland should marry Constance Hartley, whose father was crushed into bankruptcy by old Haverland's trust. And that scene, too, where the two fathers, or the two new grandfathers, really—the prosperous Mr. Haverland and the ruined Mr. Hartley—met and quarreled over the cradle of Richard Haverland's baby son, was a delightful mingling of humor and pathos.

"So it was," conceded the Artist. "And it was a touch of nature, too. That's one noticeable virtue in the book—its humor and its naturalness. And the plot is skillfully constructed to keep one's interest at high tension until the last. I read 'The District Attorney' with distinct satisfaction."

"I haven't any fault to find with the story," explained the High School Teacher. "Only, I don't want to see the market glutted with anti-trust novels—it's bad for literature and it's bad for the anti-trust movement."

"Well," said The Girl, "just so a story's a good story, that's all I ask."

"Girl," returned the Old Playgoer, "that's all any of us have a right to ask."

BAEDEKER'S GREAT BRITAIN.

Baedeker's Great Britain, with 22 maps, 58 plans and a panorama, is the newest of the famous guide books of that name, concerning which it has been said that George Ade and William Jennings Bryan could not have written their recent letters of travel without them. It is an immensely valuable volume to a tourist, and is a handy book of references for a stay-at-home. It is published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

"IN OLDE CONNECTICUT."

"In Olde Connecticut" is one of the Grafton Historical Series books edited by Henry M. Stiles, A. M., M. D., written by Charles Burr Todd, and published by the Grafton Press, New York. In these pages one sees Gov. Hancock and Dolly Quincy plight their marriage troth in the old Burr mansion at Fairfield, meets Lords Say and Seal and poor Lady Fenwick at Saybrook, notes the bustle of New London's palmy days of the West Indian trade, and later, when her whalemen spread sail on every sea, fights the Pequot in Groton Swamps and the Britisher on Groton Hill, sees old Gov. Trumbull in his little war office at Lebanon furnishing sinews of war to the continental armies, dances with the French officers and fair Connecticut girls, powwows with the Indian over the "Moodus noises," sympathizes with the people of Windham in the famous frog scare, unearths the scents of the old Newgate, and reads the Declaration of Independence issued some twenty days before the better-known document was formulated at Philadelphia.

"THE MYSTERY OF THE LOST DAUPHIN."

Emilia Pardo Bazan is the author of "The Mystery of the Lost Dauphin," a truly fine novel and a book of such historical and literary worth as one seldom sees. "Mme. Bazan," says the New York Herald, "is one of the greatest, some people think the greatest, woman novelist of her time. Some years ago an attempt was made to introduce her work into this country, but it failed, whether the time was not ripe or what the reason was I do not know. She has been called the George Eliot of Spain, a foolish title, for her work is not at all like George Eliot's except that it is tremendously powerful, She has a much lighter touch. Mr. Howells is one of her greatest admirers in America, and has written most enthusiastically in her praise."

Why her works should have failed of their merited reception over here is hard to understand, for few persons of this day or any other write with such power. It is safe to say that scarcely anyone could read "The Mystery of the Lost Dauphin" without falling under the spell of her pen or without being eager to proclaim her from the housetops. The book is translated from the Spanish by Annabel Hord Seeger, with an introduction, and is published by the Funk & Wagnalls Co.

"MAITLAND MAJOR AND MINOR."

J. M. Barrie writes: "This book and 'Godfrey Marten' seem to me the best that have been written of the English schoolboy for many years. Mr. Turley is the Trollope of boyhood. * * * Trollope might have taken these boys up a few years after Mr. Turley finishes with them. They are the real thing; they run gaily into the book and out of it, never sitting down to be photographed; they are quite unaware that Mr. Turley is in the field with them, or that you are looking in at the dormitory window."

"Maitland Major and Minor" (E. P. Dutton & Co.) is a story of an English boy and his younger brother in a private school. It is especially interesting to American boys from its pictures of English school life, in which the customs are very different from our own. It tells the story of the tyranny of the older boys over the younger, of the trials of the masters, and the numberless fights between the different factions and their representatives. The book is full of humorous episodes, and rings true to boy life with its unconscious humor.

VALUABLE MUSIC DICTIONARY.

Prof. Louis C. Elson of the New England Conservatory of Music has compiled a dictionary of musical terms and phrases which is comprehensive and up to date. It contains 318 pages, and besides the dictionary proper it gives rules for pronouncing Italian, German and French; a list of popular errors and doubtful terms in music; a list of prominent foreign composers, artists, etc., with their chief works, the pronunciation of their names and the date of their birth and death; and a short vocabulary of English musical terms with their Italian equivalents. Phonetic spelling is used when necessary, and in the case of important musical terms the explanation is thorough, extending in some instances to two or three pages. Music dictionaries are numerous, but as the art of music is constantly changing, an up-to-date book is always welcome. (Boston: Oliver Ditson Co.)

"ALL FOR THE LOVE OF A LADY."

It requires but an hour, and a pleasant hour, to read "All for the Love of a Lady," written by Elinor Macartney Lane and published by the Appletons. It is a Scottish story of the days when knighthood was in flower, and is a moving romance written with a skill and intensity suggesting Maurice Hewlett. How two Scottish boys, imbued with a chivalry and spirit too improbable for fact, but not incompatible with fiction, constitute themselves the knights of a fair lady; what dreadful adventures befall her, what knaves and knights contest for her hand, and how the boys contrive to smooth out the uneven course of love—all this makes a very readable story, written by a lady who can write.

"THE GARDEN, YOU AND I."

"The Garden, You and I," is by Barbara, author of "The Garden of a Commuter's Wife," etc., and published by the MacMillan Co. The author says "This book is for those who in treading the garden path have no thought of material gain; rather must they give—from the pocket as they may—if they would drink in full measure this pure joy of living." It is a very delightful garden book, fragrant with flowers, instructive in a knowledge of them and authoritative and beautiful in a love for them. It is prettily illustrated, and a delight to the gardener and the lover of flowers.

SPURGEON'S ILLUSTRATIVE ANECDOTES.

Rev. Louis Albert Banks, D. D., has selected and classified the best of the anecdotes with which the great Spurgeon illustrated his sermons. The author says that some of these anecdotes were of such value to Spurgeon that he used them again and again in his sermons. In addition to serving the chief purpose of helping ministers, the volume is good reading for laymen. (Funk & Wagnalls, publishers.)

A TRANSPLANTED CHURCH.

"Tuxedo Avenue to Water Street, the Story of a Transplanted Church," is by Amos R. Wells, editor of the Christian Endeavor World. The author says "the story shows a church transferred to the highways and the hedges, a church going forth as all churches will some day go forth to the place where the need is, where the work and the blessedness are." The story originally ran as a serial, and it is now published in book form in response to requests. A part of it has been printed in Japanese, and a request has been made for permission to translate it into Bohemian. (Funk & Wagnalls, publishers.)

HUMOR FROM ENGLAND.

Stage Manager: I'm afraid, sir, Mr. Barnstorm won't be able to go on for the part of Coupeau in the D. T. scene. He isn't sober enough.—Pick-Me-Up.

Guest (at anniversary dinner): You belong to one branch of the host's family, I believe?

Poor Relation: Yes, I belong to the branch that never had any plums on it. —Tit-Bits.

An epidemic of dog stealing has broken out. The most aggravated instance is reported from the suburbs, where some burglars, not content with a quantity of silver and jewelry, took with the swag the valuable watchdog as well.—Punch.

Hardup: I'll never go to that restaurant again. The last time I was there a man got my overcoat and left his in its place.

Weloff: But the proprietor wasn't to blame, was he?

"No, but I might meet the other man."—Pearson's Weekly.

"Keep your seats, please," said the stage manager. "We're much obliged for your kind applause, ladies and gentlemen, and we're going to give you the death of Nelson over again."

"O, are yer?" came from the hero's friend. "Then if you'll tell Nelson 'is kitchen chimley's afire, and 'is wife's jest 'ad a couple of fits, p'raps 'e won't die so blessed lingerin'."—Peason's Weekly.

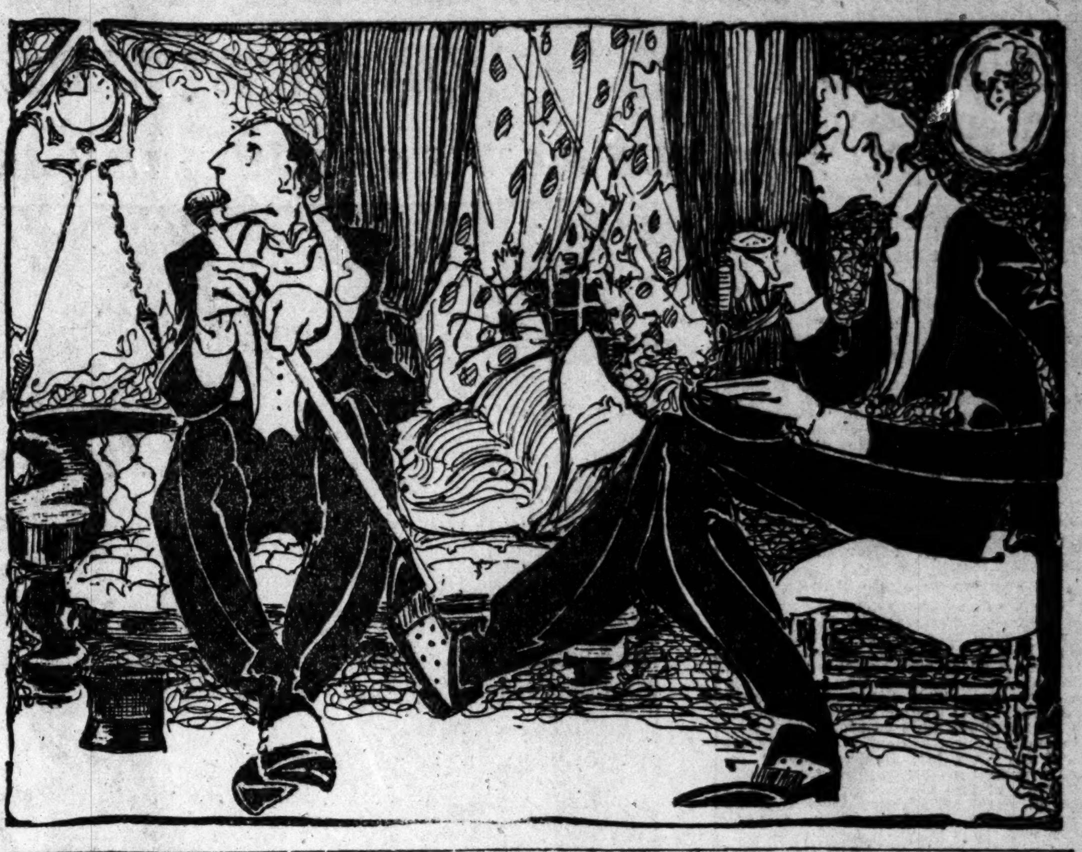
Young Father (anxiously): Is it a boy or a girl, nurse?

Nurse: It's three of 'em, sir. Three lovely boys!

Young Father: I'm an unlucky beggar! This comes of my marrying a girl whose father was in the wholesale line of business.—Tit-Bits.

The nobility and gentry were recently gathered in the village schoolroom to enjoy some tableaux vivants by local performers. The curtain had just fallen on a really creditable picture of the death of Nelson, shown to slow music, when one who was known to be a friend of the gentleman representing the greatest naval hero rose and tried to make his way toward the stage.

FIND THE JOLLY GIRLS



The Cause Wins in the End.

Carl Schurz in McClure's Magazine.

Mazzini and Kossuth—how strangely fate played with those two men! Mazzini had all his life plotted and struggled for the unification of Italy under a free national government. Not many years after the period of which I speak the national unity of Italy did indeed come, first partially aided by the man Mazzini hated most, the French Emperor Louis Napoleon, and then greatly advanced by the marvellous campaign of Garibaldi, which is said to have been originally planned by Mazzini himself, and which reads in history like a romantic adventure of the time of the Crusades. Finally the unification of Italy was fully achieved under the auspices of the dynasty of Savoy; and Mazzini, the republican, at last died in an obscure corner in unified Italy where he had hidden himself under a false name, an exile in his own country.

Kossuth had agitated with his wonderful eloquence and then conducted a brilliant though unfortunate war for the national independence of Hungary. A defeated man, he went into exile. In the course of time a large measure of the political autonomy, the substantial independence of Hungary as a self-governing country, was accomplished by peaceable means, and the Hungarian people seemed for a while to be contented with it. But it was accomplished under the kinship of the house of Hapsburg; and Kossuth, who never would bow his head to the Hapsburg, inflexibly resisted every invitation calling him back to his country, whose legendary national hero he had not ceased to be; and he finally died as a voluntary exile at Turin, a very old and lonely man.

A large part of what those two men had striven for was at last won—but it then appeared in a form in which they would not recognize it as their own.

Overheard in a Pullman.

"Oh, George, wouldn't it be lovely to make people think we are already married!"

"All right; when we get out you carry the bag and umbrellas."—Le Rire.

Marie: I did not; I said you powdered.

Maud reluctantly): Oh, well, that puts another complexion on it.—Stray Stories

"If you want to make a hit you must strike out for yourself, my son."

'You're mixed in your baseball talk, pa; if you strike out, you can't make a hit."—Woman's Home Companion.

"Us Georges."

George Ade in the Spot Light.

From the original St. George, patron saint of England, who is shown in his favorite lithograph to be fighting the syndicate, down to George Wilkes, the great trotting stallion, the name of George has always been the trademark of a live one. Every good Pullman porter is named George. If, when alighting at a one-night stand, you insist upon being hauled by George, you will invariably get an upholstered hack, with the blanket neatly folded and not so much hay as you might expect.

Can you see the Chicago public fighting to get into a showshop to see a piece written by Egbert M. Cohan? And if my name had been Wilfred Ade, would I have been invited to write for "The Spot Light?" Suppose that George Bernard Shaw had been christened Sam Bernard Shaw, would "Man and Superman" have run all winter in New York? Think it over.

There's no use talking, it's a grand old name.

In Dear New York.—"What did they do with that countryman who got run over."

"Let him go with a reprimand, I believe." — Louisville Courier - Journal. (Note: Head made in Louisville.)

FUSS ONLY MADE TO GREASE THE SKIDS

Wise Men of Baseball Say That Kick in Cardinal Camp Is Due to Desire of Management to Square Supporters for Trade of Taylor.

Now cometh the other side of it and sayeth that all this fuss about Pitcher Taylor and the Cardinal team is merely so much grease to oil the skids of the deal whereby great Pitcher John is to be slipped from St. Louis to Chicago. In other words, it is held that Taylor has already been sold to Chicago for $10,000, Pitcher Beebe and Catcher Noonan to boot, and that the talk of trading Taylor is merely to "square" things and get the supporters of the club ready in condition to swallow the deal which takes away a great pitcher and brings little in return, save $10,000 in cash, which is an intangible asset, as far as spectators at baseball games can see. For, ten times $10,000 cannot play one lick of ball.

This, the argument of the unco-wise, does not seem to hold water. No matter how good a pitcher Taylor is, and there is no doubt on earth that he is not a good man for the St. Louis club any more than Jack O'Connor was for Pittsburg or New York, or McGraw for Tebeau, or Griffith for Anson, or Donovan for Fred Clarke. The trouble with men like Taylor, O'Connor, Griffith et al. is that they are really too big to be governed by the usual run of baseball managers, unless they are bound to their employers by bonds other than those of Mammon. They are men of independent, bold, advanced and hardy minds.

"Aginst the Gurvermint."

They find it galling to work for men they do not particularly regard, or whose baseball genius they deem inferior to their own. When to this feeling you add a bold and daring spirit, a free tongue and the nerve to back it up, you have what Chris Von der Ahe immortalized as "Glicks in der glup."

Taylor is one of this kind. King of the pitchers, he is very conscious of his pre-eminence. By nature he is of bold and hardy spirit, fearless to foolishness. Unfortunately these admirable aggressive qualities are not counter-balanced by amiability of temper, sweetness of disposition or any great respect for the rights or feelings of others. Taylor is admirable in his independent nature, his absolute self-reliance, his sea-wolf strength, his utter disregard of eventualities and entire ability to take care of No. 1. In all these things he is a man. But of consideration of the weak, of the feelings of his fellows, of the rights of other men or of the courtesies which the gentleman deems due to his kind, Jack Taylor knows little and cares less.

The Power of the Strong.

Like Jack London's hero, he believes in the gospel of the strong, "by my own hand I shall take and by its strength I shall hold," Like Wolf Larsen, his hand is against every man and it worries him not at all that every man's hand is against him. This being so, it would seem best that Taylor be allowed to go.

Probably the kind of people who take interest in professional baseball games will say that Mr. Robison should secure several good men in return for him instead of two young players and $10,000 in cash. McCloskey says that he can use the $10,000 to buy players. Where?

It was known in St. Louis two weeks ago that Chicago had offered Taylor $10,000, Beebe and Noonan for Pitcher Jack. Yesterday Griffith of the New York Americans asked a price or trade for him. Just how Griffith expects to get him is beyond ken. The leagues do not trade good men from one to another and Griffith and Taylor are in different leagues.

Certes, as far as players go, the Chicago offer is a poor one. Beebe is a fair pitcher of the Thompson sort. Noonan is not a better catcher than Rickey. It is doubtful if the pair would bring $2000 in the big leagues.

But it is thumbs down on Twirler Jack, king of the pitchers. A great price will be paid for him. Then someone will offer a yellow bat bag and a fielder or two will be missing, and by degrees this one will come and that one will go and McCloskey will have a ball team.

ST. LOUIS POLO TEAM NOW READY

Davis, West, Primm and Davis Favorites for Big Game at Ontwentsia.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ONWENTSIA, Ill., June 30.—Alex Primm, Dwight and Sam Davis and Allen West, the St. Louis polo players, who are to meet the crack Chicago team on the polo grounds of the Onwentsia Club this afternoon, are in fine fettle for today's game.

The St. Louisans were interested spectators yesterday of the Chicago-Kansas City polo game, which was won by the Windy City boys handily.

The members of the Chicago team anticipate a hard game today, recollection of the defeat administered to them by a St. Louis team a few years ago not being yet erased from their minds.

The St. Louis ponies are a fast, enduring and wiry lot of animals and they wheel and maneuver with precision that shows they have been remarkably well trained.

RIPPLES of the Ring

Billy Nolan, manager of Battling Nelson, who absolutely refuses to arrange a match for the fighting Dane with Joe Gans, the light and welter weight champion, now comes forward with the statements that he will let Nelson fight Kid Herman of Chicago, before either the Pacific A. C. of Los Angeles, Cal., or Jimmy Coffroth's club, in San Francisco, but that the club that secures the attraction will have to offer a purse of $20,000 for the lads to battle for.

Tommy Burns, the Western heavyweight, has returned to Chicago, where he will stay until he hears from Matchmaker O'Rourke of the Tuxedo A. C., in regard to whether his bout with Bob Fitzsimmons will be fought or declared off for good. In the event of the bout falling through, Burns will issue a challenge to fight Mike Schreck, the Cincinnati heavyweight, before the club that offers the largest purse.

Willie Lewis, the welterweight, and Billy "Honey" Mellody, have been practically matched to meet in a 15-round bout before the Lincoln A. C. of Chelsea, Mass., on the night of July 4.

Tommy Ryan, the middleweight champion, who is the manager and matchmaker of the athletic club which is pulling off fights at Benton Harbor, Mich., at present, has offered Benny Yanger and "Kid" Herman, the Chicago fighters, a guaranteed purse of $2000 to battle for in a 10-round bout at the club's next show, which will be held in about three weeks. Yanger has already accepted and a reply is expected from Herman.

Miah Murray, the new manager of the Lincoln A. C. of Chelsea, Mass., is certainly entitled to a great deal of credit for his good judgment in declaring that he will not sign any heavweights to box at his club. It is his intention to have bouts only between boxers from the bantamweight to the welterweight class. If certain matchmakers in town had used this good common sense the chances are that the boxing game would still be going in this city.

Meet for Springfield, Ill.

Ben Robinson and Will Schneider, the crack St. Louis University hurdlers, will participate July 4 in the open meet to be given at Springfield, Ill., at the State Fair Grounds, under the auspices of the A. A. U.

The meet will be run off under the direction of Charles F. Stephens of the local A. A. U. Board of Registration and all of the events will be scratch. Bassett of the M. A. C. has promised to send a team of four or five men for the competitions and Wingert of the Y. M. C. A. will also send up a number of men.

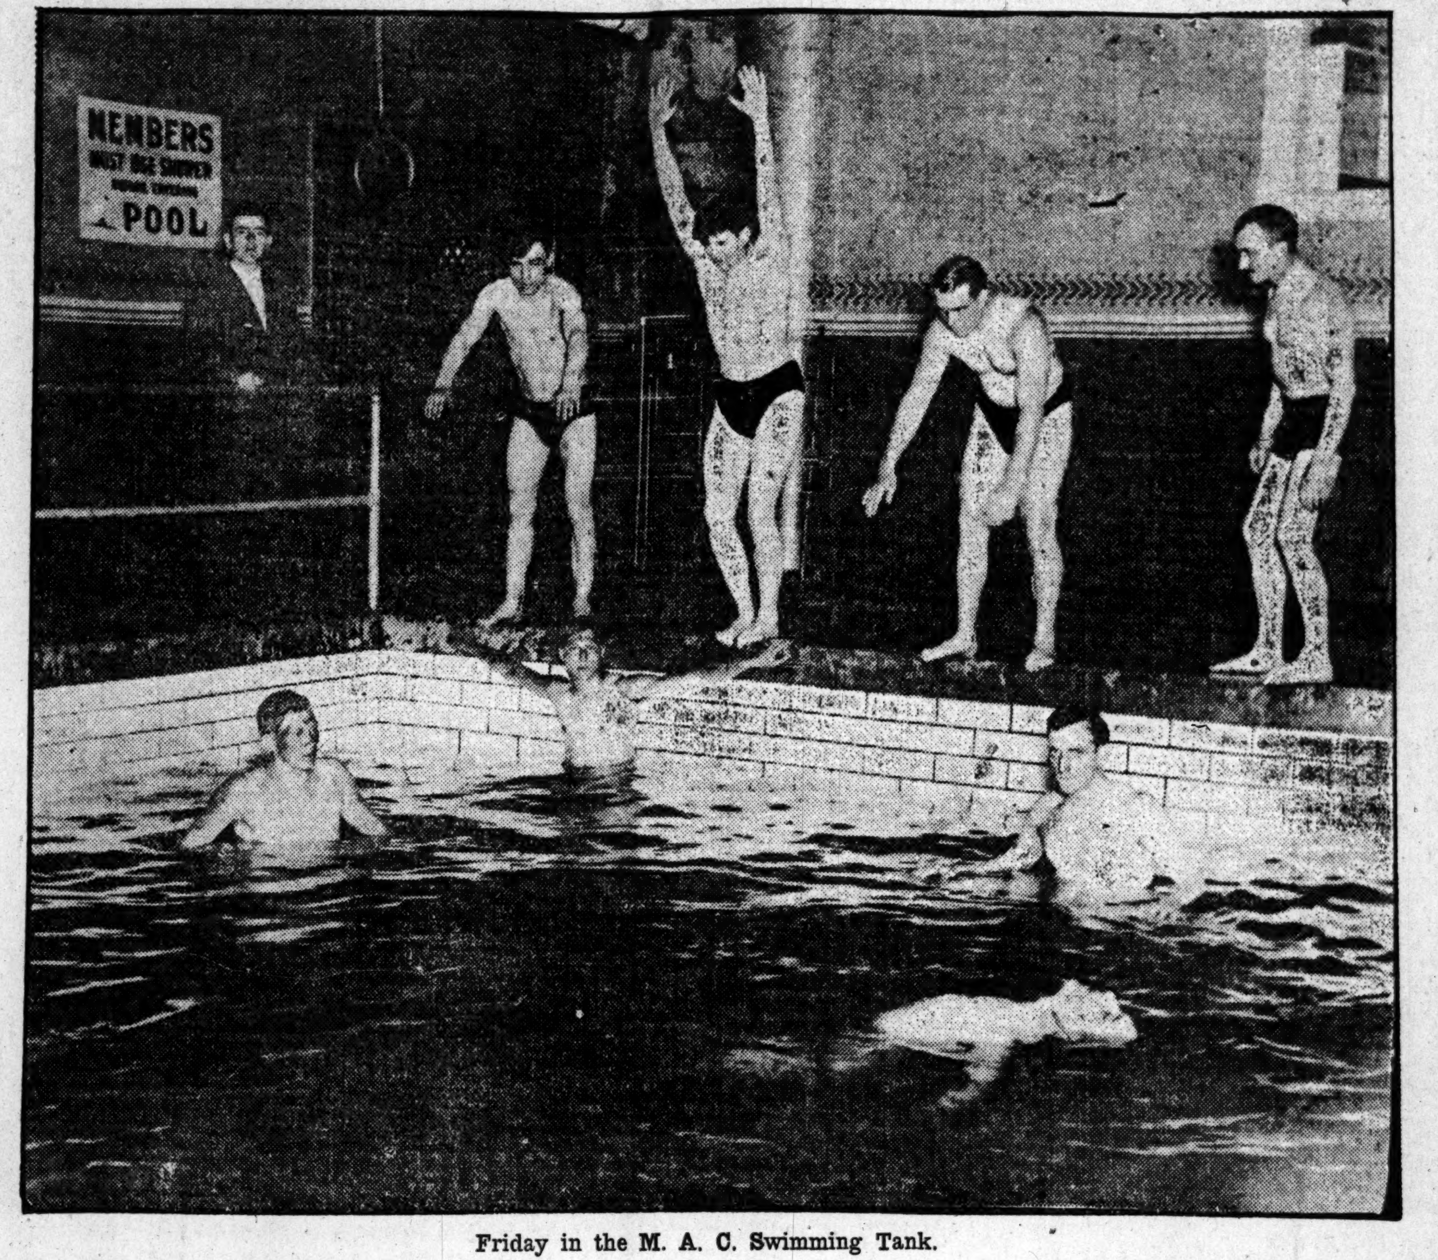
ON A SUMMER AFTERNOON

OR

THE PATHS OF SOME MEN ARE CAST IN PLEASANT PLACES



Friday in the M. A. C. Swimming Tank.

It was hot Friday if you sat up from your work and took notice of the thermometer. Fellows who work in foundries and in cashiers' cages, in brickyards and in cellars, in dry goods stores and stuffy offices all agreed that it was some hot. As for the women who work, they wear embroidered shirt waists and keep cool anyhow.

But for a man who knows how to do things and has sense and wit to avoid work on hot afternoons and get up early and have a day of it done before noon, there are ways of enjoying himself in hot weather. Downtown, where most men congregate, the onliest, spottiest spot in St. Louis is the swimming pool of the Missouri Athletic Club. Here, with the white tiling and the cool green water and fans and cool drinks and great white towels and two or three attendants and marble wainscoting and great beveled mirrors and string orchestras and Aeolian harps and the swish and trickle of fountains, mere man may find live life endurable of summer's afternoon. Friday saw many fellows loafing in the M. A. C. pool all afternoon.

The above picture portrays that glass of fashion and mold of form, E. A. Noonan Jr., floating idly in the foreground, a look of beatific sanctification upon his face. He seems to be happy. The shy-looking young gentleman at the head of Mr. Noonan is Lonnie Fitzporter, the crack handball player and athlete. Right over Mr. Fitzporter is Mike Murphy, the well-known North Side horseman. The gentleman with his hands down, about to plunge, is that picture of a man, Phil Smith of the Paddle and Saddle Club, a rare brawny fellow, who has a chance with Jeffries. The tall young man, with gripping toes and extended arms, about to immerse his pulchritude in the mere, is Newman Samuels, a very whale in the water. To Mr. Samuels' right is Dave Barry, a good seaman. Under him is Charles Cohen, more than a fair boxer, and in the extreme left-hand corner is A. G. Martin, the Washington University athlete.

Oh, it is a pleasant, if improfitable, way to spend a hot afternoon. But who can blame the boys? This is a short life. They will be a long time dead. And why should they not keep cool on this side while they may.

SURE BARGAIN IN DRY GOODS

Those Who Go to South Side Park Saturday Will Get Their Money's Worth.

A baseball game of unusual importance to the followers of the fortunes of the teams of the Retail Dry Goods League is scheduled for South Side Park Saturday afternoon, when the two leading nines of the organization, the Nugents and the Grand-Leaders, cross bats, at 3 o'clock.

While the Grand-Leaders admittedly have one of the strongest teams that has ever been formed in St. Louis, the article of baseball being played by the Nugents has led many competent critics to predict that the Nugents will win. Whether the Nugents are successful or not, a close and interesting contest seems assured.

Both teams will have their best pitchers on the slab, Wallis working for the Grand-Leaders and Brice for Nugents.

At Kulage Park the May team, the pet and pride of Manager Hemphill, will make its debut.

The pretty new uniforms of the diamond representatives of the big Washington avenue store are enough of themselves to attract a gathering to the park, but as considerable speculation is being indulged in as to the strength of the May aggregation, it is probable that many people will journey to Kulage's to see the team in action.

Manager Hemphill announces McDuffie and Brady as the May battery; Sullivan and Lyng will work for the Barr's nine, which team will oppose the Mays.

BASEBALL BABBLE

When it comes to fair usefulness, Wagner must not be overlooked. That Wagner is the best ball player in the world or not is a delicate question, but he is truly one of the best men that ever followed baseball professionally. The Homestead corn husker was at bat three times Friday and made a double and a triple. In the field he simply gobbled the six chances sent his way.

Beaumont, than whom there are few better ball players, has picked up quite a lot of weight lately. Always inclined to be fleshy, the star center fielder of the Pirates appears to carry about ten or fifteen pounds overweight. Beaumont does not seem as fast as he once appeared. Still, as long as he can make three hits out of five times at bat, Dreyfuss will hardly kick about the overweight that Beaumont is carrying.

Clarke has been ailing a bit and Friday he did not play. He sent Leach to his place in left field, while little Sheehan was sent to third base.

Sheehan, the Pirates' utility man, is rather small, but he is as spry as a cricket. He did not have much to do yesterday, but he did accept the one chance sent his way in proper manner. Sheehan's legs have been giving him trouble all season. Clarke likes the lad's action and predicts a brilliant future for him.

Willis' work in the box yesterday was excellent. He is a nervy, crafty and able pitcher. In the seventh inning he performed the task of fanning Bennett, Smoot and Shannon.

Burch was bright enough with the stick Friday. His two-base rap was molded on proper lines. He looks good, and the chances are that McCloskey has picked up a very valuable youngster in this former outlaw.

Druhot led the Cardinals with the willow. The little fellow smashed out two hits.

Murray, the new catcher from Notre Dame, batted for McBride in the ninth inning. He did nothing startling.

Smoot, Shannon and Grady, reputed to be the Cardinals' best batsmen, were helpless before the tall Mr. Willis. Not one of the trio found his curves for a hit.

Taylor watched the game from the grandstand.

Nealon continues to hit timely. He rapped out two safe ones off Druhot Friday.

Some of the Cardinals have tried to throw McCloskey down, but before the end of the season they will find out that they have tackled a man who is very proficient at the game of throw-down. The chances are that before long some of the disturbers will hear the old song of throw-them-down McCloskey revived.

Third game of the Pirates-Cardinals series Saturday. Brown will twirl for the locals, while Phillipe or McFarland will be on the firing line for the visitors.

Liefield, the St. Louis boy who has been doing good work for Clark's team, is filling out and he is now a powerful, big fellow. He has taken on probably 15 pounds since he was a semi-professional hereabouts.

Bennett played a nice fielding game. He accepted everything that came his way with sufficient grace and speed.

The Cardinals continue to show woeful weakness with the stick. Hitters Grady, Beckley, Shannon and Smoot are hitting far below the mark which is expected of them.

Nealon showed speed on the paths Friday. The big Californian stole two bases on Grady.

"The Cardinals haven't any timely hitters," remarked a spectator during the progress of Friday's game. If they have hitters of any kind we have failed to observe it.

Now that McCloskey has taken the dragon of disruption by the maw we hope he will do as neat a job as did the fabled St. George.

Lewis of Brooklyn had a busy day with the bat at Philadelphia Friday. He rapped out three hits off Lush at Philadelphia.

Boston's National League team is beginning to show wonderful signs of life. With young Mr. Young in the box Friday they beat New York 3 to 2.

The Clarke-Herman debate has adjourned temporarily. But the big noise is expected when Hermann meets Clarke, next time Pittsburg reaches Cincinnati.

Conroy and Chase had their batting togs on Friday. Each player rapped out three safe hits.

Pittsburg is climbing. They are now only 20 points behind the Cubs.

The deadlock between Cleveland and New York for leadership still prevails.

Hickman had two singles and one double out of four times up in the opening game at Washington Friday.

Seybold hit safely five times in the opening game at Washington Friday.

Cobb walloped Powell for three singles at Detroit Friday.

Stone, Hemphill and Powell made two hits each at Detroit Friday.

Umpire O'Day was recently relieved of his watch and chain by pickpockets on a New York elevated train.

Manager Chance of Chicago, expresses the opinion that he has the best left-handed pitcher in the world in John Pfiester.

Third Baseman Mowrey, who was turned over to Baltimore by Cincinnati, has made a decided hit in the former city.

McGann has been reading up on spelling reform and it has made a hit with him. His card now reads: "Mr. Dan McGan."

Pitcher Charles Hall, purchased by Cincinnati from the Seattle Club, has signed a Cincinnati contract and will join the Reds July 9.

Leever has served some neat games this season. He has a two-hit, a three-hit, a four-hit and a five hit game to his credit.

Charles Nichols is working out mornings at the Polo grounds with the idea of helping out the Giants should he get back in form.

DONAHUE DID THINGS TO HIS OLD PALS

Ravens Could Not Hit the Tiger Pitcher, While Powell Was a Merry Mark.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DETROIT, June 30.—Failure to hit Donahue at propitious moments cost St. Louis Friday's game with Detroit, 7 to 3. Powell, on the other hand, was an open book to the locals when hits meant runs. Although the Ravens slatted Donahue safely five times in the eighth inning, they scored only one run.

St. Louis made a good start, a pass to Niles, Jones' sacrifice and Stone's single netting the Ravens a run in the opener. Detroit came back with two in the second. Cobb's safe rap, Coughlin's sacrifice, Lindsay's free walk, O'Leary's single, Hemphill's muff and a bad throw by Spencer giving to the Ravens a brace of runs.

Detroit got busy and won the game in the fourth inning by scoring five runs. Powell passed Coughlin, Lindsay bunted safely. Koehler fumbled O'Leary's rap, filling the cushions. Schmidt singled, scoring Coughlin. Donahue fouled out. D. Jones singled, scoring Lindsay and O'Leary. Schaefer's double sent Jones and Schmidt across the plate.

Singles by Hartzell and Powell with an infield out gave to St. Louis a tally in the fifth.

The Ravens woke up in the eighth and rapped Donahue hard, making five hits, yet the Packers fielded so well back of Donahue that St. Louis was able to score only one run on their neat batting rally. Both teams fielded well. Detroit and the Ravens will play a double header Saturday. Glade and Smith will pitch for St. Louis and will be opposed by Donovan and Mullin.

THIRTY-SIX ENTRIES IN TENNIS TOURNEY

Players From Every Part of the State of Missouri Will Appear at the Triple A Saturday Afternoon in Annual Championships.

Play in the State tennis tournament will be inaugurated Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the Triple A courts at Forest Park.

Thirty-six entries have been received for the competitions in singles and 18 teams have entered for the contests in doubles.

The cleverest racquet exponents in the State will compete for the honors and the ultimate victors should have stern struggles for their laurels that will undoubtedly make them prize them the more.

Ollie Vernon, the Kansas City expert, and holder of the Missouri Valley championship in singles, and D. L. James, also from the city by the Kaw, are expected to be formidable contenders for single honors.

Dr. Sheldon and H. V. Jones are other Kansas City cracks who have caused St. Louisans trouble in the past.

Ralph McKittrick, present State champion, will meet the winner of the tournament in a challenge round.

Joe Wear, city champion, who is conceded an excellent chance to defeat McKittrick this year, will oppose H. L. Small Saturday afternoon.

Charlie Scullin will meet O. Vernon, and D. L. James will volley with J. Burke.

Elmer More, the Triple A champion, will contend with Andrew Drew. The latter is an earnest, aggressive player, thoroughly familiar with the best canons of tennis and many expect him to give More considerable trouble.

Arthur Wear and Clarence Gamble, who play the most dashing and scintillant game of any of the local teams, play Gauthiers and Krebs. Wear and Gamble smash the tennis spheroids as hard as they do a baseball when there are three men on base, two out and four runs needed to win.

WILLIS OUTPITCHED THE LITTLE DRUHOT

Willis was hard to hit, so the Cardinals lost Friday's game to the Pirates, 5 to 2. Willis had Shannon, Smoot, Beckley, Grady and the rest of the Cardinals spellbound when hits meant runs.

In the sixth inning cardinal-hosed warriors filled the bases. Up to Willis he struck out Bennett, Smoot and Shannon. It was a nervy exhibition of pitching on the tall one's part and a nerveless exhibition of batting on the part of the locals.

During the game Willis fanned nine of the Cardinals. Druhot pitched very mediocre baseball for St. Louis. The Pirates stung his delivery when hits counted. Wagner, Nealon and Leach were particularly adapted to the solution of Druhot's dinky delivery and welted his curves plenteously.

MERRY SPORTS ON MERAMEC

Regatta of Paddle and Saddle Club Will Be Attractive Feature This Afternoon.

The inaugural regatta of the Paddle and Saddle Club will be held on the Meramec River, opposite Valley Park, Saturday afternoon. There are five events on the program and the initial one will be started at 3 p. m.

The quarter-mile dash for singles is practically a competition for the championship of the club, as only members of the Paddle and Saddle are eligible for entry in this event.

Phil Smith, Sam Stein, Gwynne Evans, Frank Hall and Jack Morris have signified their intention of competing and the trial of speed should result in as pretty a contest as one would care to see.

Stein, Evans and Hall are enthusiastic devotees of athletics who have grown brawny in the pursuit of the pleasures of field, forest and stream, and it is very probable that the first champion of the club will be one of this trio.

Considerable interest attaches to the race for mixed doubles, man and woman in each canoe. Gwynne Evans and Miss Isabelle Ketchem, Frank Hall and Miss Katherine Tutt and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bennett are entered in this event.

There are also on the program a race for war canoes; quarter-mile event for doubles, and a race for doubles, distance, one mile.

Trains leave for Valley Park at 1:35.

Best for rheumatism, Elmer & Amend's Prescription No. 2851. Celebrated on its merits for many effectual cures.

Rickey seems to be suffering from bridegroomitis, which is one of the most serious afflictions to which athletes are subject. It is a well established fact that marriage, to a great extent, dulls the athletic edge chiefly because it contributes to a contentment and selfsatisfaction which is fatal to ambition. Philosophers who have studied the situation hold that the desire to charm and please one woman or many women, is the great impelling force which spurs men to deeds of greatness in this world and, on the basis that there is no sense in keeping on running after you have caught and boarded the street car, there is no incentive to please or charm when you have won the woman and achieved perpetual dominion over her. It is rather a pity that young athletes do not read Schopenhauer and Eitel before they

DRIVE AGAINST UNITED COMMON

Holders Sell on the Announcement of the Suburban Purchase.

OTHER STOCKS QUIET

Bank, Trust and Miscellaneous Issues Show Very Little Change.

Local brokers looked on the merger of the United Railways and suburban companies as a bearish influence on United Railways common stock owing to the fact that the new preferred stock with which the Suburban is purchased receives no dividend for a year and a half, and this seems to indicate that no dividend on United Railways common will be forthcoming for some time to come. The stock dropped abruptly from sales yesterday at $53 to $48.50 and closed with offerings at the lower level. United Railways preferred on the other hand was comparatively steady, although the sales were made on the down turn at $81.75 to $81. The bonds showed a steady range at $86.50.

In the bank and trust list the demand was very light and small lots of St. Louis Union Trust at $386 and Mechanics' National Bank at $315 were the only sellers. Other securities in this class received little attention.

The bond and miscellaneous lists showed an irregular range in the face of a very light investment and speculative demand.

SELLERS CONFIDENT OF THEIR POSITION

Drive Against Pennsylvania and the Steels Are Disturbing Influences.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Heavy over-night selling orders were executed in the market at the opening and prices in nearly all cases showed small losses. Pennsylvania was the subject of an attack that drove it down nearly a point to 126¼. The metal securities showed some resistance and both the steels opened practically unchanged from yesterday.

News over night showed no important changes, although the foreign dispatches were again pessimistic over the political outlook. London was still inclined to favor the decline and American securities in that market were lower.

Liquidation continued after the market was well under way and prices dropped off again on heavy offerings. The weakened position of the U. S. Steel stocks through the decline in the past few days was the cause of much uneasiness in public sources and the common dropped to a new low record on the movement below 34.

The selling in the Hill issues, and especially Great Northern preferred, was accounted for, but in authoritative sources it was indicated that the selling represented stock held by the Lamont estate.

Nothing definite has come to the surface to account for the continued liquidation in the securities market, but it is now apparent even to the layman in the game that some powerful interest is backing the movement.

It is ridiculous to assume that the selling is coming from commission houses, for such is not the case. The commission houses on the "street" report less stock in their offices than at any time in the past two years and all the weak accounts have long gone by the board.

The selling, therefore, is coming from inside interests, for the public that are in the market are talking bearish and holding their stocks while the decline goes on.

Opinion differs as to the sources of the selling, but the action of the Standard Oil issues both in the recent upward movement, when St. Paul was advanced rapidly to 182 while Copper was unloaded in heavy volume around 110, and the drive that developed against the Standard Oil Co. seem to indicate that these interests had disposed of their holdings in Wall street securities in advance of the announcement and are at present favoring a break in Wall street securities in advance of the Government's prosecution on the corporation interests of the country become more apparent.

The weakness in Pennsylvania was also a depressing influence, as the recent large borrowing by this company has created a bearish sentiment on the property. The stock received little if any support of a substantial character and was the center of a liberal selling movement at all times.

With the publication of the bank statement the market hesitated for a second and then plunged downward again. The lowest prices were then recorded. Pennsylvania dropped to 125 and Steel preferred below 99 before a demand from the shorts not desirous of carrying stocks over Sunday caused an indifferent rally. At the advance pressure was again encountered and the closing was very active and irregular around the lower level.

COTTON.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Fluctuations in the local speculative market were quite erratic at times, with July selling down close to the 10c mark and both July and August at big discounts under the next crop, but at the close of the week prices showed comparatively little change from the previous week. The principal feature was first notice day on July contracts on Friday, and as was expected, a large number were in circulation. This caused some depression in the market, but it was soon demonstrated that more interests were anxious to take delivery than had generally been expected and the market quickly regained the early loss, with shorts good buyers. Crop and weather advices were generally of a very favorable nature, and private crop reports point to a bearish Government report on July 3. Liverpool cables this morning were disappointing, influenced by the Journal of Commerce report, which showed a condition of 82.7, a gain of 6 per cent from last month, and the local market opened 4 to 5 points lower for the summer months and two points lower for the next crop. There was very little cotton for sale, however, and some moderate buying for foreign account and during the greater part of the session the market ruled very quiet, but very steady, with prices moving within a narrow range. There is thought to be a large outstanding short interest, and it is feared that if the Government report should not be up to expectations it would cause a sharp covering movement. There is still a good demand for spot cotton, and the South reports very little of desirable grade for sale.

WHEAT FUTURES DRIFT DOWNWARD

Weather Conditions Cause Traders to Offer Holdings More Freely.

OTHER GRAINS ARE QUIET

Oats Show a Tendency to Advance—Corn Is Steady in Sympathy.

Wheat futures drifted downward again today on more liberal offerings from both commission houses and professionals. Market sentiment is apparently swinging around to the bear side and buyers show little inclination to load up at the present levels.

Weather conditions continue to be the controlling influence in the speculation and unless unfavorable conditions develop in the spring wheat territory the trade is inclined to the belief that lower prices will prevail.

Reports from the winter wheat harvest are encouraging and all the competent authorities agree that the harvest will be well above the yield indicated by the last Government report and above the estimates made while the exaggerated crop damage reports were in circulation.

The day's news outside of the weather reports was meager and unimportant. Foreign markets were very quiet and Liverpool closed ⅜d lower on wheat and ⅛d higher on corn. Berlin, Budapest and Paris prices showed no important change.

Local receipts continue to run light and shipments moderate. The cash market is very quiet and millers and elevator interests are working for lower prices before the new crop starts to come in.

Receipts of wheat in St. Louis during June were 609,334 bu, against 516,380 bu in June last year, an increase of 92,954 bu.

Northwestern receipts were liberal and Minneapolis and Duluth reported 246 cars, against 199 last week and 214 last year. Clearances of wheat and flour were 122,000 bu.

Corn was steady throughout on very liberal offerings. The weather on the whole was favorable, but the bulls are depending on the strength in oats and the short hay crop to maintain their position. Cash markets continue very firm, although country acceptances were a little freer last night. Clearances were 33,000 bu.

Oats were steady and offerings of this grain are small at all times. Clearances were only 910 bu.

ES' SECRETS ULGED BY AUTHOR IN "LADY EVELYN"

erton Will Never Again Visit the Roumanian Hills Where He Gained the Material for His Novel, Because of the Danger.

Max Pemberton, the noted British author, will probably never again visit the tiny Balkan State of Roumania. No official order bars him from its frontier. But it is declared on fairly good althority that if he once were to cross those frontiers he would place himself liable to unforeseen accident or perhaps might even disappear as have many before him. The Balkans are far off and much is possible there that would elsewhere be laughed at as absurd.

Mr. Pemberton has incurred the displeasure, not of the Roumanian authorities, but of the powerful and half savage gypsy population of the hills.

These dangerous persons have learned in a roundabout way that he has divulged certain of their most closely guarded and criminal secrets. And there is but one penalty for the rash man who does that.

The medium through which Mr. Pemberton has made public these dark records is in a stirring romance of adventure and mystery entitled "The Lady Evelyn."

"The Lady Evelyn" is the third of the famous $150,000 series of new international novels hitherto unpublished, and issued in advance of book publication by the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

The first installment will appear tomorrow and it will continue serially during the four ensuing Sundays of July. This paper has secured the exclusive serial right to these great books. Order early and prevent disappointment.

BETTER THAN C[illegible]NCY

Lally's Resignation Due to Order for Payment of Club Dues.

M'NAMARA A LIEUTENANT

Held That Rank Before, but Was Reduced Under the Kiely Regime.

Lieut. Richard McDonnell, who was known as "Old Faithful Dick" to the friends of Gov. Folk when the latter was Circuit Attorney, was further rewarded by the Board of Police Commissioners when he was promoted Friday from the rank of Lieutenant to that of Major. He succeeds Edward J. Lally, whose resignation from the post of Inspector of the Police Department was accepted by the board, to take effect July 15. His office outranks that of the captains, and his salary is $100 a year higher than theirs, or $2500 a year.

When Joseph W. Folk was busy prosecuting boodlers, and when many policemen were openly against him, "Dick" McDonnell, then a detective, acting as a clerk in Folk's office, won the gratitude of the man who is now Governor by his adherence to duty and his personal loyalty.

Lally's resignation is a sequel to the letter he sent out to the members of the department three weeks ago, ordering them to pay up their dues in the Jefferson Club or be sent before the board. This letter was not authorized by any member of the board, and Gov. Folk expressed his dissatisfaction with it in strong terms. Chief Gillaspy, acting at the suggestion of the board, sent out an order which virtually told the police that they need not pay any attention to Lally's letter.

Politics Hurt McNamara.

Although Lally's resignation does not go into effect until July 15, McDonnell assumes charge of the office at once. Lally, evidently anticipating the action of the board, requested and was granted a furlough of 15 days.

Sergt. James McNamara of the Central District, promoted to the rank of Lieutenant to succeed McDonnell, held the rank of Lieutenant once before, and was looked upon as one of the best officers in the department until political influence caused him to be reduced. When McNamara was recommissioned a few days ago, the members of the board discovered that he was rated as low as 40, 25 per cent below the meanest average. This rating was made during the Kiely regime.

While a Sergeant in the Carr Street District, McNamara was transferred after raiding a craps game run by a saloon keeper politician. Capt. Johnson told the grand jury that McNamara and Nolte, recently promoted to Lieutenant, were two of the best sergeants in the police department. Under the Kiely administration both were obscured.

Policeman Thomas Conlon, who was promoted to a sergeancy, has been a terror to evil doers on the Levee.

Bland Questions Witnesses.

Theodoric C. Bland, the new vice-president of the board, spent a quiet first day at the board meeting. He showed great interest in the case of Policeman Bedford Abell of the Magnolia Avenue Station, charged with clubbing Walter Seibert, 16 years old.

"Was the boy lying prostrate on the ground after he fell?" asked Mr. Bland of one of the witnesses who had testified to seeing the boy on the ground.

"I couldn't say that he was prostrate," the witness replied.

"Well, did he move after falling?"

"No."

Later Mr. Bland questioned Capt. Creecy as to the policeman's reputation for sobriety. It was good, the Captain said.

It developed that Seibert had fallen from a bicycle while Abell was trying to arrest him for riding without a light and that the policeman fell on top of him.

The charges against Abell were dismissed without prejudice and he was commended by President Stewart for doing his duty.

Policeman Harry Murphy, who was represented by Attorney Anthony Hochdoerfer, was found guilty of failing to report a shooting affair which occurred on his beat and of disobedience of orders. He was fined $25 and reprimanded.

Patrolman James Kelly was found not guilty of the charge of firing his revolver without cause. He was complimented by Mr. Stewart.

The trial of Policeman Peter Walsh, charged with fraudulent registration, of which he has been convicted in the Criminal Court, was continued indefinitely. His case is pending in the Supreme Court.

SENATOR BURTON ASKS NO PARDON

Convicted Kansan Says He Will Abide by Supreme Court's Mandate.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 30.—Bailie P. Waggener, one of the attorneys for ex-United States Senator J. R. Burton, gave out a signed statement today denying, on behalf of Senator Burton, any desire to secure an executive pardon in case of his final conviction by the United States Supreme Court. The statement, in part, follows:

"The purport of a Washington dispatch is that Burton and his attorneys have practically abandoned his case, or are ready to abandon it if any assurance can be had that a pardon can be obtained. This movement may have originated with the ex-Senator's friends, and it may be in good faith, but it certainly is not in his interests, nor does it treat the Supreme Court with proper respect. This case is still pending on an application for a rehearing, and without discussing either the law or the facts in the case, it is not out of the way to call attention to the divided court and that many new and undetermined questions are raised in the case. Having great faith in the justice of our cause, we hope and expect to win the case. Talk of a pardon is premature, if not disrespectful to the Court, while the case is pending in any of its stages. If the case is finally decided against him, our advice would be that he would wrong himself and the State that has honored him if he should apply for a pardon.

"And we are authorized to say for him that neither now or at any time will he ask for a pardon. This is a case for the courts, to be finally adjudicated by the courts, and our client will rest his case there and will obey their mandate."

Joseph Maguire, former Assistant Chief of the Kansas City Fire Department, is at St. John's Hospital, suffering from severe burns, the result of his demonstration of a patent chemical fire apparatus invented by Henry Sieben, Harbor Master of Kansas City.

The demonstration took place at Twentieth street and Washington avenue Friday, and was witnessed by Chief Swingley. As Mr. Maguire, with his apparatus, approached a blazing shed, the wind veered and the flames enveloped him. He stood his ground and extinguished the fire.

2 WOMEN AND MAN GIVEN TAR AND FEATHERS

Michigan Trio Failed to Heed Warnings of Scandalized Neighbors.

HOUSE RAIDED AT NIGHT

Several Women in Men's Attire Were Among Determined Vigilantes.

DETROIT, Mich., June 30.—George Simpson, a farmer; Mrs. Cora Elliot, aged about 35, who lived in Simpson's house, and Simpson's wife, who lived apart from him half a mile away, were tarred and feathered last night at Fowlerville, a few miles north of Detroit.

The neighbors had been scandalized by the "goings on" at the house of these people, and had warned them, but the warning was unheeded.

Twenty-five of the neighboring farmers marched to the Simpson house and broke down the door. A young woman and a young man eluded them, and only Cora Elliot fell into their hands. Taking her with them, they marched to the house occupied by Mrs. Simpson. They seized her, and, with their two prisoners, returned to Simpson's place and lay in wait for him.

When Simpson appeared he showed fight, but that was quickly knocked out of him.

Then the vigilantes heated a pot of tar and opened a bag of feathers. The three victims fought, wept, begged and prayed, but one after another they were coated with hot tar and then with feathers, "just to make you pretty," as one of the vigilantes said. They were turned loose with a warning to leave that section of the country.

Simpson drove to Howell and made complaint to Sheriff Pratt and the prosecutor. These officers investigated, but say they have not sufficient information as to the identity of the crowd to warrant arrests. There were several women in men's attire among the vigilantes.

MISSES MONEY WHEN GIRL GOES

Bartender and Young Woman Arrested After Report of Robbery.

James Smith of 2706 Hickory street wanted to sing the praises of the working girl when he met Policeman Whalen and Walsh of the Central District early Saturday.

"I met an awful nice little girl last night," he said. "We had a couple of drinks together in the cafe at 2044 Market street. I was in the midst of a good story when she excused herself for a moment. I waited about an hour for her to return. She didn't. I felt for my purse. It was gone, so was $150 which it contained. Oh, she was a working girl all right and she worked me. I must be an easy mark."

The police later arrested Lulu Baker and Henry Steffen, the bartender in the cafe where Smith said he lost his roll.

Steffen told the police that Lulu Baker was the girl who was in Smith's company. He said she left the room where she and Smith were drinking and as she passed out through the barroom she tossed him, Steffen, $60. Steffen gave the money to Lieut. McNamara. Lulu Baker denies that she stole any money from Smith.

DISFIGURED WITH ECZEMA

Brushed Scales from Face Like Powder—Under Physicians Six Months But Grew Worse—Some Said Face Would Be Marked for Life—Now Without a Blemish.

CUTICURA REMEDIES WORK WONDERS.

"As I was a sufferer with eczema I write to tell you what a great friend I found in Cuticura Remedies. In six months I had tried three doctors, but did not get any better. It was on my body and on my feet so thick that I could hardly put a pin on me without touching eczema. My face was covered, my eyebrows came out, and then it got in my eye. I then went to another doctor. He asked me what I was taking for it, and I told him Cuticura. He said that was a very good thing, but that he thought that my face would be marked for life. But Cuticura did its work and my face is now just as clear as it ever was.

"My brother-in-law told me about the wonderful Cuticura remedies. I took his advice and got the Ointment, Soap, and Resolvent. I washed with the Cuticura Soap and then applied the Ointment, and took Cuticura Resolvent as directed. In a short time my face began to get better, and when I had taken one bottle of Resolvent I could brush the scales off my face like a powder. When I had taken four bottles my face was as clear as ever.

"I told all my friends about my remarkable cure. I feel so thankful I want everybody far and wide to know what Cuticura can do. It is a sure cure for eczema. (signed) Mrs. Emma White, 641 Cherrier Place, Camden, N. J., April 25, 1905."

BACKACHE

Pains in the back come from a weak spinal column, which is the direct result of unhealthy kidneys. And if this important organ of the body is diseased you should "be up and doing."

We imagine we have dyspepsia, heart disease, nervous prostration and a hundred and one ills, but nine times out of ten the real trouble is that the kidneys are so weak and diseased that they are utterly unable to carry the waste matters out of the body, and the uric acid accumulates in the system, and slowly but surely paves the way for Bright's disease, diabetes, blood poisoning and a horrible death in convulsions. Ask your doctor if this is not good, solid, common sense.

Warner's Safe Cure Cures Kidney Disease

When the kidneys are diseased the uric acid is not carried off, and this causes Gout, Lumbago, Rheumatism of the Joints, Rheumatism of the Muscles, Rheumatism of the Heart, Rheumatism everywhere.

In Bright's disease the bowels are often constipated and the liver torpid. Warner's Safe Pills quickly relieve this condition, and no ill after-effect is experienced.

There is only one remedy that can be used with absolute safety and confidence—Warner's Safe Cure, put up for years at Rochester, N. Y., by the Warner Safe Cure Company, and sold at all drug stores, 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

Warner's Safe Cure is used by leading physicians, and in hospitals, as the one certain cure for all diseases of kidneys, liver, bladder and blood—the remedy that cures when all else fails, and leaves no bad after-effects. Get a bottle today; it will save you years of suffering.
